GENUINE GOLD BRICKS.

A Daring Theft Consummated at Vallejo, California, Monday Night

FIRST THEY DUG A BIG TUNNEL

Then Bored Their Way Into the Strong Room and Later Escaped with Their Plunder Which They Took Away in a Boat.

POLICE ARE NOW INVESTIGATING

VALLEJO, California, August 7.—Gold bricks valued at $340,000 were stolen during last night from the Selby Smelting Works.

The robbers evidently had been working on the job for two or three months. They had dug a tunnel from outside the house, beginning with a shaft about three feet deep. Thence they worked underneath the vault and striking upwards, bored a hole in the strong room floor. The hole was shaped like the man-hole of a boiler.

Part of the holes were bored two months ago, it is thought, and the last one was completed during last night. Through that hole they took the gold bricks and carried them to the shore of the bay near the mouth of the tunnel east of the works, where they were evidently placed in a boat. In their hurry the robbers left two of the bricks on the bank.

During the night one of the workmen reported to his fellows that he heard a noise in the strong room and declared it was a ghost. The others ridiculed him for his superstition, but no investigation was made to see what caused the noise. The entrance to the tunnel was covered with a frame, over which the employes of the smelter passed repeatedly every day, but no one seemed to notice anything out of the way.

Sheriff Veale, of Contra Costa county, his deputies and Chief of Police Sanford, of Vallejo, have started an investigation.

The police of San Francisco and all the bay cities are at work on the case, but so far there is not the slightest clue to the robbers. The work was that of skilled men and their elaborate plans were carried out without a hitch. They got all the bullion in the vault, leaving behind only the two bricks which were dropped on the shore. Only one day's accumulation of refined gold was kept at the works. Monday's run was unusually heavy and the gold was to have been shipped back to San Francisco yesterday.

The tunnel that the robbers excavated was about three feet in diameter and gave them plenty of room in which to work. It is supposed that the dirt from the tunnel was taken out at night and dropped into the bay.

First reports stated that the tunnel was two or three hundred feet long, but according to late advices it is only about ten feet in length. The shaft was started close to the wall and was sunk below the foundation.

It is thought the men who committed the robbery took their plunder away in a launch and made off directly for San Francisco. There are plenty of places, however, to which they may have gone, either up the Sacramento river or to the shore of any of the numerous bays.

Following is a list of the property stolen: Four fine gold bricks, all numbered and containing as follows:

No. 1236—1,190 ounces.
No. 1237—3,300 ounces.
No. 1238—1,123 ounces.
No. 1239—1,037 ounces.

Also, 10,000 ounces of gold in various shapes and a little silver. The gold in the bricks is worth $20 an ounce.

Found Gold and Jewels.

In the passenger station at Williamsport Friday afternoon five gold rings, set with pearls, opals and one with a fine diamond, were found. They were turned over to Stationmaster Hyman and he set about to find the owner and succeeded. It seems that a young lady wished to wash before dining and took off her rings. When she went to the Park hotel she forgot them, but on discovering her loss identified the rings in Mr. Hyman's possession and was more than glad to be so fortunate as to recover them.

—Elsie Horner, the 14 year-old daughter of E. Horner, of Moxham, a Johnstown suburb, disappeared from home Saturday last and no trace of her has yet been found. It is thought that she ran away deliberately, as the sum of $82 disappeared from the house the same day.

THE JOHN ROHN MYSTERY.

Case of a Man Who Disappeared Two Years Ago.

The mystery surrounding the disappearance of John Rohn, of West Keating township, Clinton county, about ten miles below Karthaus, this county, has never been solved and is today as much a mystery as ever.

John Rohn was a prosperous lumberman and farmer who lived among the half-breeds of West Keating township all of his life. He amassed considerable property and was a large employer of labor. April 6, 1899, the neighborhood was informed by Rohn's family that he had disappeared from home and no good reason for the same was advanced. The last seen of him by anyone who talks today was on April 5, when Dave Gaines, who was building a fence on the farm, says Rohn came to where he was working and said his son John would pay him for his labor at noon, at which time Gaines would finish his job. Rohn was then, according to Gaines, going to the woods to burn pasture.

The family corroborate the Gaines story, but add nothing to it concerning any of the happenings about home that morning.

Terry Jones, a respected white citizen of the neighborhood, whose word is good among the people, saw Rohn sitting on his porch at 10 o'clock April 5, about an hour before Dave Gaines says he came to him on his way to the woods.

Aside from these two statements the public has never had any evidence regarding John Rohn's actions on April 5, or subsequently. During the following weeks that entire country was covered by a small army of searchers without the least possible clue being obtained. Everybody acquainted with the family had a theory, except the members of the famiy themselves, that is the family of his third wife. They would never talk.

At the time of his disappearance John Rohn had a large amount of money on his person. He had five or six thousand dollars in a Lock Haven bank and considerable negotiable paper. Of the latter there was a voucher given him by the Pennsylvania railroad for ties, something over one hundred dollars. This voucher was in Rohn's possession some days before he disappeared. Afterward it was presented at a Clearfield bank by a friend of the family, but payment refused. The family say it was found in the Bible after Rohn disappeared, and was given to the party who presented it for a debt owed him.

Detectives from all parts of the country have worked on the case, but it seems the first to go upon the ground were amateurs and so bungled things that all those who might have thrown light on the case "tumbled" and "sealed lips" were met with among the natives when good men came upon the ground later.

John Hohn was probably worth $50,000 when he suddenly dropped out of the world. The oldest son of his third wife is now managing the estate.

Will Vote on Two Amendments.

At the general election in November the people will vote upon two important amendments to the state constitution—one to permit the passage of laws providing for personal registration and the other to permit the substitution of voting machines for ballots. Both these amendments had the support of ballot reform organization in the two last legislatures, because it was believed by their members that more honest elections could be secured if voters in cities had to personally register their names before election and if a mechanical device could be used to record the votes of the citizens and prevent the stuffing of ballots by inside officers.

The Bishop Appointed for the New Altoona Diocese.

The apostolic delegation in Washington, D. C., was officially notified Monday of the appointment of Mgr. Eugene Garvey as first bishop of the diocese of Altoona.

A private cablegram from Rome on May 29 announced the appointment of Mgr. Garvey, but until Monday this report was not confirmed. On account of the delay it was believed that the pope was holding the matter under advisement and would probably select another candidate for the position.

The notice from Rome has been forwarded to Pittston. The new diocese will include the counties of Westmoreland, Fayette, Indiana, Blair, Cambria, Somerset, Huntingdon, Bedford, Centre and Clinton. Schuylkill county will remain with the Archdiocese of Philadelphia.

It is believed that bishop-elect Garvey will be consecrated on August 24, the feast of St. Bartholomew, or on September 1, the festival of St. Matthew.

MANY PEOPLE KILLED.

Terrific and Fatal Explosion in City of Philadelphia.

NO CAUSE AS YET ASSIGNED

It is Believed that From Ten to Twenty People are Dead and Over Two Score More or Less Injured.

THE WRECKAGE CAUGHT FIRE

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 6.—A terrific explosion in a block of six buildings on Locust street above Tenth last night, completely wrecked five of the structures and caused the death of from ten to twenty or more persons. Over two score of others were more or less seriously injured. Some of those taken to the hospital will die. It is estimated that at least 35 persons were in the five buildings when the explosion occurred and the exact number of dead will probably not be known for 24 hours.

The buildings were occupied as follows: Locust street, No. 1008, Houseman's pool and billiard rooms; No. 1010, Morris Rosenthal's second-hand clothing store, occupied by Rosenthal, his wife and five children; No. 1012, Wm, Jones, colored, restaurant, occupied by Jones and about 15 boarders; No. 1014, Geo. McClemmy's grocery store, occupied by McClemmy, clerk and servant girl. No. 1016, Patrick Quigley's grocery store, occupied by Quigley, his wife and three children and his uncle; No. 1018, Albert Mountain's grocery and meat store, occupied by Mountain, his mother, sister and clerk.

The explosion occurred about 9:30 o'clock. What exploded and how it happened is not known at this time, but it is believed to have been a barrel of gasoline in one of the three grocery stores.

With the exception of No. 1008, the front walls of the buildings were blown outward into the street, while the floors and the roofs were blown upward and fell straight to the ground. Almost every building within a radius of two blocks about the scene of the explosion had window panes shattered and were otherwise damaged. Every building on the opposite side of Locust street was more or less wrecked, but none of them fell.

A thrilling cry went up from the ruins the momout the explosion occurred. Women, children and men, occupants of the wrecked house, could be seen crawling from the debris, while the agonizing cries of others were heard in the wreckage. From all the surrounding buildings injured people came running and fell in the street unconscious.

To add to the horror, fire broke out in the wreckage the moment it settled to the ground, and in less than five minutes the great pile was burning fiercely from end to end. A general alarm was turned in for fire apparatus and ambulances, and in the meantime the work of rescue was voluntarily begun by those in the neighborhood that were not injured.

Here and there a person was dragged from the ruins before the fire could reach the victim, several lives being saved by this prompt work. When the firemen reached the scene the flames had gained great headway and were igniting the buildings across the street. The fire, however, was soon under control, and with the exception of a small blaze here and there, was extinguished in a few minutes.

The work of digging away the ruins was then begun in earnest. Near the edge of the debris several colored men were taken out and sent to the hospitals. While the firemen and policemen were digging into the debris and hauling away heavy timbers in several sections of the wreckage, cries were heard coming from the cellar of Mountain's grocery store. Fifty men, with rope and tackle, were immediately put to work at that point and pulled away the roofing and flooring which had fallen in a massed heap. At the bottom of the pile, doubled up, were taken out a man and woman. The man was able to speak, but the woman was apparently dead.

Death of a Prominent Lock Haven Citizen.

Ex-Mayor William F. Elliot, one of Lock Haven's prominent citizens, died at his home in that place Sunday morning of Brights Disease after an illness of two years duration.

The deceased was born at York, Pa., and was forty-five years of age. He was proprietor of the Novelty Iron works at Lock Haven, served in council and was mayor of the city for two years. He is survived by a wife and three children.

Life in Bald Eagle Creek.

In making collections and studies as scientific assistant on the state fish commission, Professor Surface has determined that the life, of all kinds in Bald Eagle creek is as different from that in most other streams of the county as could be found in the remote corners of the state. For example, in Bald Eagle creek he has found two kinds of catfishes, the barred transparent minnow, and several other kinds of fishes not found in other streams, besides differences in other kinds of life including vegetation. Not only are there many differences in kinds, but also a much greater difference in abundance.

The professor attributes the greater variety and amount of life there to the fact that the water of that stream is from twenty degrees warmer in summer and from eight to ten degrees colder in winter than is the water in most of the other streams. This in turn, is because the latter are nearly all spring streams and thus maintain an equable temperature, while Bald Eagle creek, especially above Milesburg, is a superficial drainage stream and its temperature varies with that of its surroundings.

Investigations below Milesburg are to be made soon, and other differences may be found there due to other causes. A preliminary report of these studies will be published in the state fish commissioners, report this fall.—State College Times.

May Be Potato Famine.

The price of potatoes has doubled in a week, according to Pittsburg reports. Potatoes sell for just twice what they did this time last year. They are being sold now for from $6 to $7 per barrel. Last year at this time they were $3. The advance came suddenly. A week from last Saturday potatoes sold for $3 a barrel. There were so many in the market and the weather spoiled them so rapidly that they had to sell them for $2.50 a barrel, but before the week elapsed $7 was the price. Choice potatoes found ready buyers at $6 and $6.50 a barrel. Until the western crop arrives fancy prices will rule. The shortage will be felt most keenly by the poorer classes, with whom the potato is a food staple.

The housewife who wants to put up fruit had better go about it at once. Peaches, pears and plums are about as cheap as they are going to be. There has been a big yield in both Georgia and Delaware. It is expected that the peach crop this year will go over 75,000,000 bushels. The later peaches up in the Michigan belt are also expected to be plentiful. The intense heat may spoil some of the delayed crops in the warm belts and there may be a tightening up in the price as a consequence.

She is 100 Years Old.

ORANGE, N. J., August 5.—Miss Jane Elizabeth Hillyer, of 501 William street, East Orange, celebrated her 100th birthday Saturday. She is not in very good health and spent the day quietly. She has made her home for some time with her nieces, Misses Anna and Jane Pierson, who have usually taken her away from Orange in the summer, but for the past two seasons she has been too feeble to endure a journey.

Miss Hillyer is the oldest member of the First church in Orange, having united with it in 1825. She taught for many years in the Sunday school and was a regular attendant at prayer meetings until she reached the age of 80. She was also interested in the Orange orphan home and was chairman of the committee on admissions until obliged to relinquish the place because of failing health.

Ten years ago Miss Hillyer fell and broke her hip, and since that time she has been obliged to walk with crutches. Her mental powers are active, but her hearing and eyesight are somewhat impaired.

No Passes For Employes.

The following is from the Philadelphia Inquire of July 25:

Orders have been issued from the Pennsylvania railroad headquarters to stop the custom of issuing passes to the company's employes. The men employed in the big Pennsylvania railroad shops at Altcairn are to required to pay $3 a month commutation, and the same move is to be applied throughout the entire system. The Pennsylvania management takes the ground that free passes issued to employes are in the nature of extra compensation, and therefore contrary to business principle. Some of the largest western railroads have stopped giving passes to employes and correspondence has been under way for several months between railroad presidents east and west looking to a general agreement abolishing or greatly restricting free transportation to railroad employes and the members of families of officers.

TO JOIN THE STRIKE!

Every Union Man in Steel Company's Employ to Be Called.

LABOR'S GREAT STRUGGLE NOW ON

It is Now a Fight to the Finish Between the Billion Dollar Trust and Organized Labor in Various Branches.

CALL TO BE MADE THIS WEEK

PITTSBURG, August 5.—"Within a week every union man and every union man at heart in the employ of the United States Steel corporation will be asked to join in the strike now being waged by the Amalgamated association. We must settle whether unionism is to stand or fall.

"There will be no more conferences with the United States Steel corporation, unless the meeting is asked for by the officials of that corporation. The Amalgamated association will not request a peace meeting."

These and several other statements were made last night by Theodore J. Shaffer, president of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers, upon his return from the fruitless conference with J. Pierpont Morgan and others in New York.

It is now a fight to the bitter finish between the great billion dollar Steel Trust and organized labor. Mr. Shaffer says that he is ready to employ every peaceable means within the power of man to win a victory. No quarter is to be given and none will be requested. The entire management of the battle has been placed in the hands of President Shaffer. He has absolute power to call out every man who is connected with the organization and he intends to do it. He is satisfied with the progress of the fight to date. He finds that none of his battle lines have been broken. Promise is made by Mr. Shaffer that the Trust will find that the Amalgamated association has strong roots in many of its mills.

Mr. Shaffer, Secretary Williams, B. I. Davis, M. F. Tighe and John Campbell, of Wellsville, came in from New York over the Baltimore and Ohio road at about 7 o'clock last evening. They were expected by the Pennsylvania, but Mr. Shaffer enjoys mystery and his chief pastime now is eluding reporters. The president and his advisors did not appear to be the least cast down.

"I have simply been traveling through a sea of reporters since I left Pittsburg," said Mr. Shaffer, "and the tide does not seemed to have turned the other way. There is not much that I can say about the situation at present."

"Will there be a meeting of the advisory board tonight to order a general strike?" was asked.

"No. I always endeavor to prevent Sunday meetings when I can. We had none on the train today," was the reply.

"Will there be a meeting tomorrow?"

"None will be needed. The fact of the matter is that we held one in New York last evening."

"Was there any action taken at that meeting about calling out all of the men in the employ of the United States Steel corporation?"

"I was given full authority to act. The meeting empowered me to issue a call whenever, in my judgment, I thought it was time to act."

"When will that call be issued?"

"That depends upon a number of things. It is difficult to say just the exact day that I will be ready to exercise the authority vested in me."

"Is the order likely to go out tonight?"

"I would hardly think so. I am of the opinion that I could not prepare myself to issue the order tonight."

"Will you do anything in the matter this evening?"

"No, I will not. I am going home to rest and will wait until tomorrow to resume the cares of my position."

"Cannot you fix some definite date when this order will be issued?"

"You can say that within a week every union man and every union man at heart in the employ of the United States Steel corporation will be requested by me to join the Amalgamated association in winning this strike."

"Do you think you will be able to close all of the mills of the steel corporation?"

"I am of the opinion that every one of them can be closed. We have some great surprises in store for the Trust. The men have been organized in some of their mills that they never dreamed could be touched. We have the sympathy of the workmen and they will not throw any straws in the way of our absolute victory."

Harvesting the Trees.

What we like best about the phraseology used by the bureau of forestry is the word harvesting. The primeval, instructed man never harvests trees; he destroys them. For many, many years the pioneer work in the United States, in regard to trees, was wholly removed from the idea of harvesting. Generations of American farmers had been trained to the practice of clearing a piece of wood and keeping it cleared—the quicker and more permanently the better. All that was necessary at the time. But that time has gone by, as most American farmers now know. They know now that a continuance of that sort of tree destruction—under present conditions it is often tree murder—would be highly dangerous. The nourishing brooks go dry when there are too few trees; the land goes dry and loses productive power, and the climate goes to all the degrees of heat or cold. But with the practice of harvesting our woodland all these evils may be avoided, and still an abundance of wood and timber may be had for every necessary purpose. The lumber crop, or wood crop, under forestry methods, stands upon the same basis as the hay crop or the oat crop, for it is implied that the trees are to grow again; that the productivity of the forest is to be preserved.

The Month of August.

August, like every month of the year, has become inseparably associated with the bestowal, by nature, of certain of her products, and this time is best typified by field and orchard bending under ripening richness, in splendid climax of spring and summer vegetation.

In the Roman year, which began with March, August was originally styled Sextilis, being the sixth month in this scheme of completing the calendar, and consisted then of 29 days. Julius Caesar reforming the Roman calendar, extended this month to 30 days.

Not long after, to honor this month, that marked some of the greatest conquests of his ambitious leadership, Augustus conferred on Sextilis his own name, August, and taking a day from February, added it to August, as a further bestowal of signal honor to make it equal in length to July, to which Julius Caesar had given his name.

During August, Augustus was first admitted to the consulate, and thrice entered Rome in triumph. It was a period of unusual conquest to the Romans, for during this time the Janiculum placed themselves under the auspices of Augustus, Egypt was brought under the power of Rome, and civil war and dissension had ended.

Odd Things That Happen.

Miss Jessie Bowler was driving home recently from an orchard several miles from Cavendish, Idaho, about sunset when a mountain lion emerged from the brush andjumped into the back of the vehicle. The frightened horse ran for town, and when the city was reached the lion jumped from the buggy and escaped. Miss Bowler fainted.

A Winsted, Conn., dispatch says: Tired after his day's work in the hay field, Chas. Crosley went to bed Saturday night without stopping to light a lamp. The moment he lay down he heard a hissing noise and then something hit him on the leg. Upon striking a match he saw an adder measuring 3½ feet on the bed.

Farmer Jared Wilcox, of Lynn, Pa., recently became suspicious of banks, and withdrawing $900 he hid it in a stocking, which he placed in a trunk in the attic of the house. He had occasion to use some money a few days since and upon going to the trunk found that mice had made a nest of the notes. He will send the remnants to the redemption bureau.

Legal Bonds Require Stamps.

Bonds of administrators and executors, which were formerly held to be exempt as bonds used in legal proceedings, require, after July 1, 1901, a fifty cent stamp. The bonds of guardians, receivers or trustees are taxable. Such bonds as are used as prosecution bonds, injunction bonds, bonds upon appeal, writ of error, for costs and those given in claim and delivery action for property not taxable.

Would Have Cost Him His Life.

Oscar Bowman, Lebanon, Ky., writes: "I have been using Foley's Kidney Cure and take great pleasure in stating it gave me permanent cure of kidney disease which certainly would have cost me my life." Take none but Foley's. All druggists.

—Early Wednesday morning Pine Grove Mills was visited by a heavy electric storm. A bolt of lightning struck the large new house of Benton Heberling shattering a chimney and damaging the roof to a small extent. Mrs. Heberling was slightly stunned by the shock.

—The Soldier's Orphan school commission Wednesday decided to abandon the school at Harford and transfer the pupils to the schools at Chester Springs, Scotland and Uniontown. All the pupils will be eventually concentrated at the Industrial school at Scotland.

—Wm. Finn, of Lima, O., obtained excellent results from the use of Foley's Kidney Cure. "It relieved my backache and severe pain over the hips. It toned my system and gave me new vim and energy. It is an honest and reliable remedy, a sure cure for all kidney diseases." All druggists.

—Albert Jones, of Port Matilda, was robbed of $100 while in town Thursday. He suspected Howard Reber, of Williamsport, who was hostler at the Garman House, with having taken the money and had a warrant issued for his arrest. Reber left town on the 2:40 train and has not since been seen.

—Mr. Daniel Bantz, Otterville, Ia., says: "Have had asthma and a very bad cough for years, but could get no relief from the doctors and medicines I tried until I took Foley's Honey and Tar. It gave immediate relief, and done me more good than all other remedies combined." All druggists.

—Mayor Nichols, of Wilkesbarre, fined George Gabriels $12.50 for using three swear words on the street, while Alderman Donohoe, at the same time, fined Joseph Horn $5.50, including costs, for two swear words. Now there is an interesting controversy as to which figure is right.

OFF THE TRACK.

A Miscreant's Work Came Near Causing Terrible Wreck.

Thursday night the evening passenger train on the Central Railroad due here at 9:10 ran off the track a short distance below the depot. Both the engine and one passenger car were off the track and narrowly averted going over the embankment. There were fifty people in the car and their escape from a more serious accident was indeed a lucky one. The cause of the accident was a misplaced switch and now the railroad company are hunting for the miscreant who opened the switch. The switches were all right when the passenger went down at 6:40 but between that time and their return this switch, which caused the accident, and the one at the turn table had been opened. The engine which hauled the passenger train was Ne ha sane and this was the first time in seven years that it has left the rails.

Largest Chain Ever Made.

The Lebanon chain works have received a contract for what will be the largest chain ever attempted in this country, if not in the world. The chain consists of 660 fathoms of 3 3-16 inch diameter iron and 300 fathoms of 1¾ inch diameter iron stud link cable, the former being constructed in shots of 15 and 30 fathoms each, which are connected with 8 7-16 inch shackles and swivels. Each line of this chain will measure approximately 19½ inches in length and about 11½ inches in width, and will weigh abont 100 pounds to the foot. The cables are required by the Eastern Shipbuilding company, of New London, Conn., for the two large steel steamers which the company is building for the Great Northern Steamship company and Northern Pacific railroad. These steamers will be the largest freight carrying steamers ever built, and are designed for the foreign carrying trade.

Exciting Time.

The Huntingdon Journal is responsible for this story:

Sunday afternoon while a prominent young man of this town, accompanied by two ladies and a gentleman were driving in the neighborhood of Water street, their horses frightened at something, stopped and then began to paw and back. One of the men got out of the carriage to lead the horses when he was surprised to see a large snake lying coiled in the road. He called for his companion and the two proceeded to give battle to his snakeship. They declare that the snake actually came after them and at one time when balked of its prey made a spring of over ten feet and struck the shoe of one of the men. By the use of a large club they finally killed it. It was a rattlesnake and measured seven feet and eight inches, and had seventeen rattles and a button. The club that was used to kill the snake was covered with green slime and upon letting a dog bite the stick it was only a short time until the dog died.

Destroyed by Fire.

The Methodist church at Munson, which of late had been put in thorough repair and was a beautiful little place of worship, was totally destroyed by fire Wednesday night. That the building was set on fire was evidenced from the fact that in an open space between the foundation and the frame work, where a stone had been removed, were found pieces of charred kindling saturated with coal oil. The fire was discovered shortly after 11 o'clock, but had gained such headway that despite the hard work done by the crowd that gathered the building could not be saved, but was soon in ashes. The organ and a few chairs were all that could be saved. The loss is estimated at about $2,700, on which there is an insurance of $1,700. The church will be rebuilt at as early date as possible, and an effort made to run down the incendiaries.

A Sun Hatchery.

The following special comes from a western paper: The Missouri egg factory of Springfield, handles about 60,000 dozen eggs a day, all of which are candied before entering the factory. About three wagon loads of eggs are rejected each day and hauled outside of the city limits, where they are dumped. A man living near the dumping ground has collected enough chickens batched by the weather from eggs thus thrown away to stock a chicken farm. Every day for a month or more he has been carrying a number of chickens home from the dumping ground, where they had been batched by the unprecedented heat.

Rev. A. R. Lambert, Ph. D., D.D.

The Raftsman's Journal: "We are glad to learn that Rev. A. R. Lambert, of Minneapolis, Minn., a Methodist preacher well known here, who was reared in Boggs township, this county, has just had conferred upon him the degree of Ph. D. by Taylor University, Indiana, and the degree of D. D. by Ohio University. Mr. Lambert is yet a comparatively young man and these degrees conferred by the most eminent institutions, are certainly a deserved recognition of his ability and fitness to receive them."

Rev. Dr. Lambert was formerly pastor of the Methodist church at Pleasant Gap and is well and favorably known in this vicinity.

What are Humors?

They are vitiated or morbid fluids coursing the veins and affecting the tissues. They are commonly due to defective digestion but sometimes inherited.

How do they manifest themselves?

In many forms of cutaneous eruption, salt rheum or eczema, pimples and boils, and in weakness, languor and general debility.

How are they expelled? By

which also builds up the system that has suffered from them.

It is the best of all medicines for all humors.

MILLHEIM JOTTINGS.

Quite a number of people in town last Saturday. At the store of D. J. Neiman appeared to be the largest crowd, and they were kept busy from early morning until late at night waiting on the trade.

The festival given by the United Evangelical church last Saturday evening was fairly attended and a goodly sum realized.

The recent rains have made a wonderful change in the growing corn, potatoes and garden "sass."

There was a lively contest for delegate to the Republican County convention last Saturday evening. The Quayites were beaten three votes. J. Spigelmyer was the delegate chosen.

The Millheim base ball club got a good drubbing at Spring Mills last Saturday afternoon. In consequence the boys came home very quietly. Score 12 to 9—7 innings—in favor of Spring Mills.

Frank M. Dunkel, of Lewisburg, called on our merchants Monday.

Charles Hazlett, of Mifflinburg, hat and cap drummer, was in town Monday.

Last Sunday was a very warm day—thermometer up in the nineties.

This week George Kister informed us that he will have ripe peaches on the market.

Mrs. Sarah Homan is a guest at the National Hotel this week.

George Stover has hands at work remodeling his house on Penn street and when completed it will be one of the finest places in town.

W. A. Tobias and Jerome Spigelmyer had business at the county seat Tuesday, the latter gentleman as a delegate to the Republican County convention.

W. B. Chamberlain, of Milton, agent for Reid & Co., interviewed the merchants Monday.

Andrew Smith, of Salona, registered at the National Monday.

Harry Ritter and wife, of Milton, passed through town last Tuesday on a automobile. This is the first one that has excited the ideas of our people and it was quite a sight for those who had not seen one in operation.

Capt. George E. Parker, of Philipsburg, Frank B. Keiner, of Danville, Alex. E. Cohen, of Bloomsburg, Guy F. Roush, of Mifflinburg, and C. R. Dodson, of Louisville, Ky., traveling salesmen, registered at the National Tuesday and Wednesday.

Walter B. Orwig, of Hartleton, was in town Tuesday.

Early Wednesday morning a heavy electrical storm passed over this borough and the rain came down in torrents.

"It is the little rift within the lute which ever widening, makes the music mute.,, It is just a little rift in the health of a woman often, which gradually takes the spring from her step, the light from her eyes, the rose from her cheek and the music from her voice. Perhaps the bug-bear which has frightened the woman from the timely help needed at the beginning has been the dreaded questions, the obnoxious examination, the local treatments, of the home physician. There is no need for these. Nor is there need for continued suffering. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription can be relied on by every woman, suffering from what are called "female troubles," to renew the health and cure the disease. Women are astonished at the results of the use of this medicine. It not only makes weak women "robust and rosy cheeked," but it gives them back the vigor and vitality of youth.

Free. Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, 1008 pages, is sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Treated for Rabies.

Fourteen Pottsville people who were bitten two weeks ago by a mad dog which ran at large in that town, will receive their final treatment for the rabies by means of the virus secured from the Pasteur Institute of New York, Saturday night.

The virus has been secured fresh from the metropolis every day and the treatment will cost in all about $500. The expenses will be borne by the borough. All the patients are doing well.

This is a Prohibitory Ordinance.

The Shippensburg council has passed an ordinance making it unlawful, under a penalty of a fine and imprisonment, for any person to drink whiskey, beer or other intoxicating liquors, to use any vile or profane language, or to congregate and loaf upon any of the sidewalks, streets, alleys or public grounds of the borough. The fine is not to exceed ten dollars, and the imprisonment will be in the borough prison.

BUTCHERS ARE IMMUNE.

Meat Dealers, It Is Said, Never Die of Consumption.

"Butchers never die of consumption." The big man with his sleeves rolled up, wielding the cleaver at the block, said this as he threw a beefsteak on the scale.

It sounded more like a trade superstition than a fact, but so far as diligent inquiry has been able to discover it is true, although not generally known outside of the meat chopping craft.

Butchers are no longer lived than men in other walks of life. They are subject to all the other ills that human flesh is heir to, but consumption they do not have. So far as a reporter was able to learn not a single case is on record of a butcher in this city being afflicted with the incurable wasting of the lungs which claims its hundreds of thousands of victims annually.

The fact is well known among butchers and has been often the subject of their comment, although none of them can give a reason for it.

"No," said a man who has swung sides and rounds in Washington market for the last 20 years; 'I have had rheumatism and typhoid fever and lots of other things, but nothing has ever been out of gear with my lungs, and the same is true of every other butcher in this town. I know nearly all of them, and I never heard of one of them having consumption. They don't drink blood or take any especially good care of themselves either. I don't know why it should be so unless it's because the continual inhaling of an atmosphere of fresh meat is strengthening.

"I have often thought when hearing of consumptives going to Colorado and Egypt that I know of a climate nearer home that would do the business just as well. If they would stay in this stall for awhile and swing meat, they would get well quite as quickly as they would on the top of Pike's peak."—New York Mail and Express.

DOGS.

There are nearly 200 distinct varieties of dogs.

Foxhounds give cry, but deerhounds hunt in silence.

The greyhound is the only dog which hunts by sight.

A pure bred staghound never attacks the head of his quarry.

Only in the temperate zone is the dog found perfect in courage and speed.

The Italian greyhound is reputed to be the most symmetrical of all animals.

Skye terriers have been known to jump into the river and land hooked fish, which they take carefully by the back.

Eskimo dogs are capable of drawing a well laden sledge 60 miles in a day. Their harness is of the lightest, only a single trace and no reins.

Women Cannot Boss Each Other.

The old theory that woman is man's helper seems incorrigibly well founded, says E. S. Martin in McClure's Magazine. If the situation isn't satisfactory to her, there is no help for it, for the conditions it came out of seem to be eternal. Women may vote. They will be none the less man's helpers if they do. They never will band together to put man down and teach him his place. They will push him ahead if they can, they will pull him along when they must, they will influence him enormously, as they always have done, but they will never conspire together on any very great scale to make him play second fiddle. Some one has got to be master. Women in general will never agree to have women bosses so long as there are competent men for that use.

Kaffir Banking.

The Kaffirs have a simple method of banking. Before setting out to trade they select one of their number as their banker and put all their money in his bag. When an article is purchased by any of those who are in this combine, the price is taken by the banker from the bag, counted several times and then paid to the seller, after which all the bank depositors cry out to the banker in the presence of two witnesses selected, "You owe me so much." This is then repeated by the witnesses. The general accounting comes between the banker and his several depositors when all the purchases have been made, after which all the natives go home.

Varying Values of Food.

Fourteen oysters are equal to only one egg. Pea soup is nutritious, but to live on it you would need a daily supply of 24 platefuls. A purely vegetable diet is too bulky, yet it may be good for the gouty and the obese. It is true that the Scottish peasantry, their country's pride, are nurtured on oatmeal, but it is liberally supplemented by milk. Rational life is a compromise. You want the happy mean "between the tiger pacing its cage and the cow lying upon the grass."—Dr. Hutchinson's "Dietetics."

The Passions.

We say of a man who has no will mastery, "He is ruled by his passions." They govern him, not he them. Centuries ago an Arab wrote, "Passion is a tyrant which slays those whom it governs." It is like fire, which once thoroughly kindled can scarcely be quenched, or like the torrent, which when it is swollen can no longer be restrained with its banks. Call him not a prisoner who has been put in fetters by his enemy, but rather him whose own passions overpower him to destruction.

Tibbetts—So you do not believe in the emancipation of woman?

Burton—Well, it is just here. Man is the superior being. But how is he going to show his superiority if woman is his equal? That's what I want to know.

WARTS AND WEEDS.

THE DIFFERENCE BETWEEN WISHING AND WORKING.

It is popularly believed that warts can be wished away. But the farmer who sat down and tried to clear his field by wishing the weeds away would soon find his crops gone. It takes working to get rid of weeds, and the man with the hoe must put in many a long day before he can take a well earned rest.

It is a singular fact that a great many people treat certain forms of disease as warts are said to be treated—by wishing. This is especially so in the case of coughs. "I wish this cough didn't bother me so," they say. "I wish my cough didn't keep me awake so much," and so on. It never seems to occur to them that it takes active measures to get rid of a cough; that a cough is like a weed, growing right along, and the longer it grows the deeper it strikes its roots.

If a man heard the alarm of a rattlesnake near by he'd jump aside at once to avoid the attack and then seek to find and destroy the dangerous reptile. The cough is a danger alarm as much more significant than the rattle of the snake as the disease it heralds is more dangerous than the snake bite.

FEW PEOPLE ARE KILLED

by snake bites each year. Consumption slays its thousands and tens of thousands annually and it is the fatality of consumption which makes the cough that heralds it a danger signal to be promptly heeded. Don't wish the cough would stop. Stop it!

"I had long been a sufferer from chronic catarrh of the head," says Chas. T. Stone, Esq., of Whitford, Chester Co., Pa. "About last May it developed into a very disagreeable and hacking cough, with soreness and fullness of the chest. Doctors here pronounced it bronchitis. I tried several doctors and took different remedies without receiving any benefit whatever. I then consulted Dr. R. V. Pierce, in reference to my case. The first bottle of his 'Golden Medical Discovery' stopped the cough. I used several bottles, with Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, and have since had no symptom of a return of the cough."

"Last spring I had a severe attack of pneumonia which left me with a very bad cough, and also left my lungs in a very bad condition," writes John M. Russell, Esq., of Brent, Cherokee Nat., Ind. Ter. "I had no appetite and was so weak I could scarcely walk. My breast was all sore with running sores. I got two bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery which I believe saved my life. I cannot express my gratitude to you. I am able now to do very good work."

The surest way to stop a cough is to use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures obstinate and deep-seated coughs, bronchitis, bleeding of the lungs and other diseases of the organs of respiration, which if neglected or unskilfully treated find a fatal termination in consumption. In hundreds of cases a cure has been effected by the use of "Golden Medical Discovery" after all other means and medicines had failed to benefit and doctors had said, "There is no hope."

DON'T GIVE UP HOPE.

Let every one who suffers from respiratory and pulmonary diseases cherish hope until Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has been given a fair and faithful trial. It always helps. It almost always cures. Ninety-eight per cent. of those who use "Golden Medical Discovery" find in it a perfect and permanent cure. Even the two per cent. acknowledge benefit and help from the use of the medicine.

"I want to say a word in favor of your grand medicine," writes Mrs. Priscilla Small, of Leechburg, Armstrong County, Pa. "About three years ago I was taken with a bad cough; had night-sweats; would take coughing spells and have to sit up in bed at night for an hour at a time. When I would walk up hill I could hardly breathe; would get all stopped up in my throat. I did not try any doctor but I saw the advertisement of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and decided to try it. I took three bottles which cured me. Whenever people tell me they are sick I say to them, 'Why don't you get Dr. Pierce's medicine? It cured me and will cure others.'"

A GREAT FREE OFFER.

Persons suffering from chronic forms of disease are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter, free. All letters are held as private and their contents guarded by the same strict professional privacy observed by Dr. Pierce in personal consultations at the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

This offer is not to be confounded with those offers of "free medical advice," which are made without any evidence of medical qualification or professional standing. For more than thirty years Dr. Pierce, as chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, of Buffalo, N. Y., assisted by his medical staff of nearly a score of physicians, has treated and cured many thousands of men and women who had been given up by friends and physicians as incurable.

Dr. Pierce's success has been founded on the fact that he cures so-called "incurables." There are thousands of men and women to-day, living in the enjoyment of perfect health, who bless the day when they wrote the first letter to Dr. Pierce. Who can wonder that these people are enthusiastic over Dr. Pierce's medicines and advice? Write to Dr. Pierce. It may be to you as it has been to many others—the first step to health.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery contains no alcohol and is entirely free from opium, cocaine and all other narcotics. It is a true body-building, flesh-forming, strength-giving medicine.

Sometimes a dealer tempted by the little more profit paid by less meritorious preparations, attempts to sell a substitute medicine as "just as good" as Dr. Pierce's. The only way in which to get the cure you seek is to insist upon the medicine which cured others, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

A GOLD MINE FOR 21 CENTS.

Who wouldn't jump at such a chance? Yet "wisdom is better than gold," and that mine of wisdom, Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, 1008 large pages (in paper-covers), is sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to pay expense of mailing only. For the cloth-bound volume send 31 stamps. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Lived in Bellefonte Fifty Years Ago.

One of the most interesting visitors in Bellefonte during the past week has been Mr. John Morgan, of Charleston, W. Va, Mr. Morgan was a resident of Bellefonte in the early 40's and was employed in the cabinet-making establishment of Samuel Harris, father of Henry P. and John P. Harris, of this place. About fifty-one years ago Mr. Morgan left Bellefonte. For some years he lived in Virginia. In 1868 he removed to Charleston, West Virginia, where he has since resided. He is the proprietor of a large furniture factory in that city and has an extensive and lucrative business. He is a most interesting old gentleman of delightful reminiscent capacity and attractive manner. He found but few of his old Bellefonte friends to greet him, but those who are still here who knew him when he lived in Bellefonte over fifty years ago were glad to renew an acquaintance of their younger days. Mr. Morgan's wife was a sister of the late General James Brisbin of the U. S. Army and he is therefore an uncle of the Misses Daisy and Kate Brisbin and Alfred Brisbin of this place. Mr. Morgan is spending a few days with a brother who resides at State College.

—A hay raking race was held at the farm of B. F. Brion, near Okome, Lycoming county. The contestants were: Mrs. Lattin, of Okome; and Harry Brion and Mrs. Olive Brion, of Cogan Station. The race was across a five acre field with hand rakes. Mrs. Brion won by fifteen feet.

—Joel N. Eck, proprietor of the rising Sun hotel, Williamsport, Wednesday morning drew $104 from a bank and placed it in a drawer in the bar room. He stepped out of the room for a few minutes, and when he returned the money was gone. There is no clue to the thief.

A Genuine Panama Hat.

The man who wears a genuine Panama hat is thereby representative of considerable geography and natural history. In the first place the hat does not come from Panama, but from Ecuador, Peru and Brazil. Those from the two former countries fittingly typify ease and leisure, for the Indians, who mainly make them, have the reputation of being the most easy-going workers and the laziest people in South America.

The hats, which are plaited under the water, are composed of the fibre of the agave, known to Americans as the century plant. In commerce it is the article often seen in tariff lists as pita thread, or sisal hemp. The same plant also bears a curious relation to the head outside of the Panama hat. From its juice is made pulque, the favorite drink in Mexico, and also mescal, an alcoholic beverage that has devoted admirers among those fond of strong drink.

Mrs. McKinley Sues.

Suit has been begun in the United States Court at Carson, Nevada, by Mrs. Ida McKinley, wife of the President, and Mrs. Mary C. Barber against John Steele, Wm. Hayes and others to recover possession of the Elijah mine, one of the patented claims of the Canton Mining company which defendants are operating, and also for $10,000 damages for ore taken out and shipped by defendants during the period of occupancy of the mine. Steele is the owner of the Macon City mine adjoining the Elijah.

When President McKinley visited the coast he had the manager of the Canton Mining company visit him in San Francisco and report on several of the Canton company's mines, a large interest in which Mrs. McKinley inherited from her father.

THE BUSINESS OUTLOOK.

Favorable Weather Conditions Save Much Late-Planted Corn.

FINE WEATHER FOR WHEAT HARVEST

The Feeling in All Parts of the Country Is Better Than It Was a Week Ago, Though the Strike Is Unsettled.

COTTON MARKET DULL AND WEAK

NEW YORK, August 3.—R. G. Dun & Company's Weekly Review of Trade says:

Continued favorable weather conditions have resulted in the saving of much late planted corn and in the northwest ideal weather for spring wheat harvest has been enjoyed. As this is the point that business in all parts of the country has been watching, the general is better than a week ago, although the disposition on both sides to settle the steel strike has not yet resulted in any agreement and the labor situation is thus kept prominent.

Official returns of pig iron production in the first half of the year show a record-breaking aggregate of 7,674,713 tons, exceeding the remarkable output of the previous year by 32,044 tons

The second half of 1901 has opened with a much greater capacity of active furnaces, and the full year promises a considerable larger total than the 13,789,242 tons produced in 1900. During the past week leading mills have placed large contracts for early delivery, and inquiries for all forms of finished steel are abundant. There is less disposition to pay fancy prices for products that were advanced by the strike, which is an evidence of the general belief in early resumption of work. An unfavorable showing for the first half year in both exports and output of copper resulted in the first alteration in nominal price since the advance to 17 cents eight months ago.

Violent fluctuations have marked the course of corn prices. The top point of the previous week was not regained, but traders on the short side of the market were compelled to cover at a loss. The decrease in marketing is not in proportion to the advance in price. Whatever benefit may have accrued from the high level of prices, it certainly has driven foreign buyers out of the market. Atlantic exports for the week amounting to only 764,179 bushels, against 3,106,931 a year ago.

Wheat is of less interest to speculators, but in legitimate trading it is especially active, western receipts for the week reaching 6,508,311 bushels, against 5,020,761 last year, while Atlantic exports were 4,815,996 bushels, against 2,373,798 in 1900.

Dealers in some drouth stricken districts have countermanded orders for footwear, and these cancellations are felt mainly by western makers, but as a whole the industry is in a healthy position.

Wool has at last risen slightly above the lowest point in four years. The cotton market awaits the government report in dull and weak position.

Failures in July were 697 in number, against 793 last year.

For Over Fifty Years.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup has been used for over fifty years by millions of mothers for their children while teething with perfect success. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cure wind colic, and is the best remedy for diarrhoea. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Sold by all druggists in all parts of the world. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup" and take no other kind.

—The crowd at Lakemont Park, near Altoona, Thursday on the Methodist Day occasion, was a tremendous one, there being about ten thousand people on the grounds. They assembled in the morning and throughout the day by train loads to Altoona, and on to the park in jammed trolley cars, the same being repeated on the return home in the evening. There were song services, many and good addresses, and a most enjoyable social time for all present. In the morning at the formal meeting Presiding Elder J. Ellis Bell presided and in the afternoon Rev. Horace Lincoln Jacobs presided. The music was good as were the contents of the many baskets and meals served by the ladies of Altoona churches. It was a grand day for an outing, and the affair was a most delightful success throughout.

Soldier Believed To Be Murdered.

The family of Corporal Edward Abplanalp, who served in the Philippines with Company E. Twenty-eighth Pennsylvania Volunteers, is very much worried over his strange disappearance.

He was one of the best looking soldiers in the army, standing six feet two inches in his stockings and being well developed. He served with distinction and won promotion in the Philippines and was mustered out at Presidio, California, on May 1 last.

He had $170 back pay when mustered out, and his family believes that he has been murdered. His parents live at Lackawanna and there, too, his wife and 3-year-old child await his return.

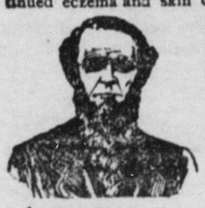
Eczema for Forty Years.

The Unqualified Statement of a Well Known Attorney, St. Ignace, Mich.

Some of the cures made by Dr. A. W. Chase's Ointment of stubborn and long continued eczema and skin diseases are causing much comment. People are beginning to realize that this Ointment is a wonder worker with all kinds of skin trouble. Attorney Jas. J. Brown, St. Ignace, Michigan, writes as follows



Dr. A. W. Chase Med. Co., Buffalo, N. Y.—Gents:—I cannot refrain from expressing my acknowledgment for the relief I have felt from Dr. Chase's Ointment. For 40 years I was afflicted with a skin disease which was located in one spot—on my leg. I have spent at a rough estimate five hundred dollars trying to effect a cure and not until I applied this ointment did I get relief. You are strangers to me and this letter is prompted directly because I want to say and I feel as though I ought to say it. That Chase's Ointment has effected a complete cure of my affliction. Three boxes did the work on my leg. I was also suffering from itching piles and applied the ointment which gave the best of satisfaction by affording me rest at night and rapidly causing the disease to disappear. I have received such relief and comfort from the ointment that I cannot withhold expressing my gratitude. I was so long afflicted with the tortures of eczema I feel now that I am cured, a word of recommendation is due from me.

Yours truly,
JAS. J. BROWN.

Dr. Chase's Ointment is sold at 50 cents a box at all dealers or Dr. A. W. Chase's Medicine Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

Information That May Be New.

A Cincinnatian got mad and paid his tailor bill with 5,000 copper cents The question was then raised as to whether the tailor was obliged to take payment of that denomination. This brought out information that may be new to some. One cent, two cents and nickles are legal tender to the amount of 25 cents. Silver dollars are legal tender to an unlimited amount. Silver half dollars and quarters are legal tender to the amount of $10. Silver half dimes and three cent pieces are legal tender to the amount of $4 only.

—James Caldwell, a workman in the stone quarry at Salona, made a narrow escape Friday afternoon. A large stone on the mountain side was loosened from its place by the effects of a blast which had been put off in the quarry. The big boulder came rolling down the mountain towards Mr. Caldwell, who was working away unconscious of the approaching danger. His fellow workmen gave him the alarm and he got away just in the nick of time, the stone striking the drill where he had been working, and breaking it into pieces.

Tried It Again.

Alva Force, of Lock Haven, who is confined in the jail at Emporium, charged with robbing the depot at Driftwood some time ago, and who escaped from Emporium jail about three weeks ago and was recaptured in Philadelphia and returned to prison, tried to do the trick over again the other day. Force and a companion, owing to the crowded condition of the jail, were confined in one cell, and in some manner secured several case knives and a couple of files, with which they dug a large hole in the outside wall, concealing the removed mortar, brick and stone in their beds, and if their work had not been discovered by the sheriff they would have made their escape in a very short time. Monday Sheriff Swope took the two prisoners to Ridgway and placed them in the jail there for safe keeping.

—The Lutheran reunion of Blair and adjacent counties will be held at Lakemount park, Friday, August 16th. The Lutheran reunions have been attracting upward of ten thousand people and as many are expected this year. The exercises in the auditorium promise to be exceptionally interesting. Senator Wellington of Maryland has been invited to speak, and there will be short addresses by pastors who have taken charges in the territory during the year. The music will be an attractive feature and the City band of Altoona has again been engaged for the day. Reduced rates for the occasion on Pennsylvania railroad.

—Tuesday night William McMichael, of Williamsburg, Westmoreland county, was returning from West Newton and in trying to cross a barbed wire fence became entangled. In endeavoring to extricate himself his throat was caught on the sharp barbs of a wire and badly lacerated, The wire pierced his windpipe, inflicting a dangerous wound. He was found about two hours afterward and taken to his home. Physicians were summoned and sewed up the wound in his throat, putting in a silver tube, through which he breathes. His condition is critical. Barbed wire ought to be ruled out by law.

REPUBLICAN COUNTY TICKET.

FOR PROTHONOTARY,
EDWARD C. McKINLEY,
of Bogg's Twp.

EDITORIAL.

HERE'S hoping that the State of Pennsylvania may turn on Centre county.—Public Ledger.

FROM all accounts, the drought that cut the corn crop down one-third has produced the largest wheat crop on record. Further, as wheat has failed elsewhere in the world, this crop will bring big prices.

"THREE cheers for John K. Thompson," shouted E. R. Chambers, and forthwith he and John Hamilton cheered. And that's all there was to it, except that Thompson can point to two admirers in Centre county.

IT has been appropriately suggested that the distinguished officers comprising the Schley court of inquiry will do well to extract all the satisfaction possible out of the general press commendation of them, as they are likely to find a change of tune after they render an opinion and make their recommendations. It will be a pure case of damned if they do and damned if they don't.

NOW THAT Editor Meek has had his say about the Republican County Convention, and in a style that justly receives public condemnation so far at least as his unjustifiable and ungentlemanly references to Governor Hastings are concerned, we would suggest that he devote the space in his paper allotted to offensive ink slings to an explanation to the Democrats of Centre county, and citizens generally, concerning the whys and wherefores of his political duplicity. In other words he should explain why he labors in the interest of the Quay machine in Harrisburg and Philadelphia and rails against said machine in his paper, the Democratic Watchman.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

From The State Press on the Recent Republican County Convention —Ex-Governor Hastings' and the Convention's Work Praised.

The recent Republican County Convention in which the Hon. John Hamilton failed so signally in his attempt to gain endorsement for the state administration and himself, has attracted wide spread attention all over the state. The leading newspapers of the state comment at length editorially on the convention and speak in the highest terms of praise of the stand taken by former Governor D. H. Hastings, and his eloquent speech on that occasion.

The leading editorials are as follows:

The Philadelphia Press, July 31.

EX-GOVERNOR HASTINGS' SPEECH.

There is not a more sturdy or faithful Republican in the state of Pennsylvania than Ex Governor Daniel H. Hastings. In his speech at the Centre County Convention yesterday he performed the duty of a true Republican who puts the welfare and good name of the party above every selfish consideration.

The speech is one to commend the attention of every thoughtful Republican in the Commonwealth. It justly arraigns the machine conspirators who are dishonoring and misusing the party for personal purposes. It fittingly characterizes the record of the Legislature recently adjourned, which sacrificed the public interests to promote personal schemes of plunder, which flouted the mandate of the Constitution and refused to make apportionments; which dishonored the pledges to amend the election laws and protect the people from the criminal operations of the ballot thief, and which devoted its time at the public expense to machine ripper bills, charter legislation and personal jobbery.

Governor Hastings enters timely protest against the nominations of the slated candidates at the coming state convention; against a personal representative of Governor Stone for justice of the supreme Court and an obedient machine member of the Legislature for State Treasurer, with a defiant purpose to secure a party endorsement of both the Administration and an iniquitous Legislature and putting upon the party the responsibility now belonging only to the cabal which by every means of corruption controlled that Legislature. In this protest Ex-Governor Hastings speaks for many tens of thousands of earnest Republicans all over the State.

It was not out of place for Governor Hastings to speak of his own efforts to maintain party harmony. The Delamater campaign is a matter of history. Defeated for the nomination by corrupt means against which any man might have fairly revolted. Governor Hastings gave his cordial support to the ticket, both on and off the stump. In organizing his own Administration four years later he sought in his appointments to bring every element of the party into harmony. He was not long in discovering that he could not serve the public and the best interests of the party without coming in conflict with leaders who would have no harmony unless they could dictate everything and subject everything to their individual purposes. He chose to respect himself and keep faith with the people who had elected him, and to him the State is indebted for halting many of the schemes of spoliation that have been made successful since he retired.

The call is to the real and sincere Republicans of Pennsylvania to rescue the party from the hands of those who dishonor its name and misuse its organization. The best and truest Republican is the one who aids in correcting whatever discredits the party. What Governor Hastings expresses is the thought of earnest Republicans everywhere. The party must purge itself of the machine, or expect to suffer the condemnation which machine crime invites.

The Philadelphia Record, Aug. 1.

EX-GOVERNOR HASTINGS AND THE "RIPPERS."

Ex-Governor Hastings' speech in the Republican Convention of Centre county is an arraignment of Machine misrule and corruption that must make a profound impression upon the people of this Commonwealth. What the distinguished Ex-Governor says of the recent exhibitions of legislative and administrative profligacy and fraud brings the scandalous history down to the latest date. The indecent assaults upon the rights of municipal self government; the corrupt conveyance of most valuable railway franchises without compensation to the people; the prostitution of the judiciary by the creation of useless courts and by the appointment of partisan Judges to do partisan work; the shameless violation of pledges in behalf of honest elections—these and other flagrant malfeasances will constitute the issues in Pennsylvania until the Machine brigands shall have been finally expelled from power.

But there is one passage in this speech, drawn from personal experience, that is of peculiar interest in showing honest Republicans that there can be no harmony in the party in Pennsylvania that would not involve degrading submission to the Machine. With manly frankness that does him high credit, the ex Governor confesses that he has been severely criticised by his friends for having gone beyond the limits of complaiance in his desire to keep peace within the party. This was on his accession to office in 1895, when he was confronted with a Machine Legislature bent on spoil and pilliage. If he sometimes yielded to this Legislature more than was compatible with the interests of the Commonwealth, he nobly redeemed himself at the next session. Before the Legislature of 1897 met the Governor was fully convinced that he could not perform his duty to the people and remain on good terms with the Machine; and he acted accordingly.

It is not necessary to recount here the numerous schemes of legislative profligacy and corruption that fell one after another beneath the veto ax of Governor Hastings in 1897. Ably seconded by Attorney-General McCormick, there was not a Machine iniquity that escaped his vigilance. But one of these acts deserves especially to be recalled now as one of the first wanton schemes of "Ripper" legislation of which we have had so many recent examples, This was the notorious bill of the "Leaders' League," or ward banditti, to rip up the charter of Philadelphia and practically transfer all appointments to municipal office from the Mayor to the City Councils.

The object of this bill was to humiliate and control Mayor Warwick, who had refused obedience to Machine dictates in the performance of his duties. In spite of the protests of the people of Philadelphia through deputations to Harrisburg, the bill was passed and sent to Governor Hastings for approval. Then was witnessed the appearance of Senators Quay and Penrose at the Executive Mansion demanding of Governor Hastings his signature to the Philadelphia "Ripper." But they reckoned without their host, and the Philadelphia charter of government was saved from mutilation by a veto. When the term of Mayor Warwick ended the banditti had no further use for their 'Ripper." They had in their arsenal other means of assault upon honest government, and they have in the successor of Governor Hastings the tool that put the last midnight stroke to the corrupt conveyance of railway franchises.

What ex-Governor Hastings says of the conditions in the State applies with equal force to the situation in Philadelphia. As he shows, there is no alternative for Republicans save in dishonorable subserviency to a combination of municipal brigands or in manly resistance in behalf of decent government. The ex-Governor finds in union and harmonious concert of all the elements of opposition the only practical method of achieving success in this municipal contest. The conclusion of the ex-Governor is that in the presence of the Ashbridge-Durham combine common sense and public spirit plead with the opposition to unite for the restoration and maintenance of decent government.

THE CENTRE COUNTY CONVENTION.

The signs of rebellion against the Machine leaders of the Republican party are constantly growing stronger. Last week the Montgomery County Republican Convention assembled, performed its labors and adjourned, without endorsing the State Administration. This week the Centre County Convention followed suit, only in a more emphatic and significant manner. With respect to the first, it is possible that the Machine leaders may have attempted to console themselves with the reflection that, while the Montgomery Republicans did not endorse, neither did they condemn the Administration; further, the record of the national Administration was passed over in silence. But there is no consolation to be derived by the Machine from anything the Centre County Republicans did in convention.

The political head of the Department of Agriculture, the devoted henchman of Quay and Stone, the man who owes his position to the political speeches he made during the last campaign for Governor, and not to any conspicuous ability as an agriculturist, used his utmost endeavor to secure words of praise for the Machine. He wanted the convention to testify to the high purpose of Governor Stone in slaughtering the appropriations to State and semi State charitable, educational and other institutions and in approving the expenditure of $4,000,000 for a State Capitol. He desired commendation for the Legislature and its acts, and he particularly wished for an endorsement for his friend and fellow-henchman, John K. Thompson, who was supposed to represent Centre county in the House of Representatives. He secured two votes for his resolution of endorsements—his own and that of another office-holder.

This effort to induce an expression of approval of the jobbery, maladministration of affairs and insolent disregard for the interests of the people had an effect the contrary to that which the machine followers desired It produced from Ex-Governor Hastings one of the most vigorous and ringing denunciations of the Administration that has yet been made, and the defeat of the resolutions at its conclusion clearly demonstrated that the words he uttered voiced the sentiments of the delegates. The speech of Ex-Governor Hastings was in nowise an arraignment of the Republican party. It was the denunciation of a Republican of the misrule of the Machine; of the work of the self-appointed leaders, in which "the best interests of the people of the State were lost sight of in dishonest and cruel efforts for personal gain; to advance individual ambition and to make impregnable the control by a few men of a political machine organization, which they wrongfully call the Republican party."

It is not an encouraging sign for the Machine when a convention is silent as to the conduct of an Administration presumably of the same party affiliations; but it is ominous when a convention listens approvingly to a vigorous arraignment of the conduct of such an Administration and afterwards overwhelming defeats resolutions of endorsement offered by one of the most devoted and subservient of the Governor's henchmen.

The Philadelphia Record, Aug. 1.

CENTRE COUNTY.

Had Secretary of Agriculture Hamilton and Representative J. K. Thompson known when they were well off they would have saved themselves and their Machine associates a most humiliating discomfiture on Tuesday last. The Anti-Machine Republicans of Centre county were willing for the sake of peace to pass over the record of Governor Stone and the Legislature in silence, and to adopt resolutions commending President McKinley and his Administration. Such a method of escape should have been gladly accepted. But in an evil hour, and under bad counsels, Secretary Hamilton and Representative Thompson conceived that they could wrest from the Republicans of Centre county an indorsement of the Stone Administration and of the flagrant record of the Legislature. Ignoring their agreement for peace, they set in operation the usual Machine appliances to secure a victory. The result is recorded in the almost unanimous rejection of Hamilton's resolutions approving the Machine. Hereafter Hamilton and Thompsons must be regarded as negligible factors in Centre county politics.

It has been observed more than once that from Centre county—so named from its geographical position—frequently issue streams of wholesome public opinion that reach all parts of the Commonwealth. The Democratic Convention of Centre county was the first in the State to denounce the treacherous and corrupt members of the Legislature elected as Democrats who deserted their political associates to aid the Machine with their votes. The Republican Convention of Centre county has been the first in the State to repudiate the Machine and its works.

There can be no mistaking the temper of the people of Centre county. If they were citizens of Philadelphia it is evident from their utterances and action that they would vote—Anti-Machine Republicans and Democrats alike—almost to a man for a fusion city ticket, with District Attorney Rothermel at the head of it.

The Philadelphia Times, Aug. 1.

INDEPENDENT REPUBLICANS.

The speech of Ex-Governor Hastings was a remarkable one to be made from the chair of a Republican county convention and applauded by its hearers. It was a comprehensive and detailed arraignment of the Republican organization of the State, for the violation of every public pledge and the betrayal of all public interests "in dishonest and cruel efforts for personal gain and to advance individual ambition." No Democrat or Independent has denounced in stronger terms the whole course of the Legislature and the State Administration, and this in a county convention of the party which this administration claims to represent.

The Machine found no defender except in two or three office holders, to whom the convention refused to listen. The Republicans of Centre county did themselves justice in disavowing all responsibility for the crimes that have disgraced their party organization. No incident in recent politics has been more encouraging than this. It shows that when the people of the State have an opportunity to express themselves, their repudiation of political brigandage will not be restrained by obligations to a party control that has forfeited their respect.

When the issue is clearly drawn, as it will be in Pennsylvania this year, between the people and the corrupt Machine, true patriots will be found upon the one side, irrespective of the party name, and only the retainers of the Machine upon the other. The Centre county convention is significant of the popular revolt that will spread throughout the State.

The Philadelphia Times, Aug. 1.

THE PEOPLE'S RETRIBUTION.

Representative Thompson, of Centre county, was one of the nearly a score of Republicans and Democrats who, in the last Legislature, violated their solemn pledges to the people to vote against Quay and against the corrupt Machine control of legislation.

Mr. Thompson was pledged to fidelity to the people not only before his nomination, but distinctly pledged in writing after his election, to act with the honest Republicans of the Legislature who were elected to end the Quay domination of the State, and who corruptly bartered with the Machine leaders and betrayed the people who had elected them.

Mr. Thompson was one of the first of these apostates to come squarely before the people of his own party, and their retribution was as swift as it was terrible. Ex-Governor Hastings arraigned him before the convention, in his own presence, as a corruptionist and as falsifier, and the convention with hardly a dissenting voice, stamped the inefaceable stain of infamy upon his brow.

The people may be deceived once by a public servant, but it is rarely that they permit themselves to be deceived twice by the same corruptionist; and in a very short time the political highway of the past will be dotted with the bleaching bones of the Republican and Democratic corruptionists of the last Legislature, who betrayed the people who trusted them, and gave a great Commonwealth over to the mastery of the most infamous profligacy that has ever shamed the annals of Pennsylvania.

The Pittsburg Times, Aug. 1.

HASTINGS' STRONG ARRAIGNMENT.

While good Republicans may differ in their estimation of some of the acts of Daniel H. Hastings while he was chief executive of the State, they must all concede that he was the last Governor elected by a majority of the voters of Pennsylvania, a majority also that was of phenomenal size. The protest which he made at the Centre County Republican Convention on Tuesday against the conduct of affairs under the administration immediately succeeding his own, and which has never had the endorsement of a popular majority, must therefore carry with it special weight. Governor Hastings had abundant experience with the Quay machine, against whose acts he protested so strongly, and could, therefore, speak by the book. Whatever personal grudges he may have they cannot alter the facts he related. His attack upon Representative Thompson was bitter, but it was most amply justified. Thompson betrayed his constituents without any justifiable excuse, and it is therefore no wonder that such utterances as those of Gov. Hastings should have been put forth.

It should be noted, also, that the Centre County convention indorsed the utterances of Gov. Hastings by a practically unanimous vote, only two votes, and those both office holders of the State machine, being cast in protest. This unanimity is indicative of the outraged Republican feeling in many other counties than Centre, and much of Governor Hasting's speech, which is elsewhere given, will find approval in a multitude of true Republican hearts.

The North American, Aug. 1.

THE FALL OF HAMILTON.

No more willing, supererviceable tool of the Quay machine than Secretary John Hamilton holds office by grace of the Gang in Pennsylvania. Hamilton went into office with a decent reputation and the good opinion of his fellow-citizens. The farmers believed him honest and looked to him for protection, and the people generally took it for granted that he was as superior in morals as in intelligence to his official associates and that he could not sink to the level of the typical machine drudge.

But the head of the Oleo Department has divested himself of the last fluttering rag of reputation, forfeited the confidence of the farmers, disappointed the decent citizens of Pennsylvania and revealed himself as a groveling lackey of the machine.

It was John Hamilton who presented to the Centre County Convention resolutions recognizing the "business integrity, courage and high purpose" of Governor Stone in cutting down the appropriations for insane asylums; commending John K. Thompson, whom Ex-Governor Hastings branded publicly as a "traitor and a liar, a social and political outcast',' for perjuring himself and selling his vote to the Quay gang for gold-brick appropriations; and commending all the iniquitous work of the Legislature as being "of the most salutary character and highly beneficial to the business and social interests of the State."

It is as impossible to comprehend the process of moral and mental decay that has brought a man of John Hamilton's intelligence down to such abject wallowing in political foulness as it is to understand why a finely-bred and trained dog will roll in carrion.

The Pittsburg Post, Aug. 1.

We regard the Centre County Republican Convention as highly significant of the trend of politics in Pennsylvania at this time. The Harrisburg Machine seems to have had the notion it had only to send a few of its henchmen to Bellefonte and everything would be agreeable. Never were men more mistaken. The Republicans were fully informed of the crime and corruptions of the late Legislature. The committee on resolutions, while reporting the usual perfunctory praise of McKinley, said not a word about the State administration and the Legislature. This did not satisfy Governor Stone's Secretary of Agriculture, John Hamilton, and one of Centre's Machine members of the last Legislature, and they introduced a minority report on resolutions, praising the State administration and indorsing the Legislature. Ex-Governor Hastings was present, with his war paint on, and he made a scathing speech in denunciation of the corruption and degredation of Republican politics and administration at the State capital. The result was that the machine resolutions indorsing the Stone-Quay outfit got only two votes in a largely attended county convention. There are indications that the Centre county convention illustrates a prevalent feeling among the Republicans of the State. The Quay-Stone machine has promise of rough sledding both this year and next.

WHY BOYS LEAVE THE FARM.

The American "farmer's boy" is a farmer's boy only until he arrives at his majority. Then he leaves the farm and "goes to the city," an indefinite term which to him means success and wealth. In discussing the reason for his leaving, the Topeka (Kas.) Herald observes:

"The boy almost invariably wants to go to town or stay in town. Why? The enemy of the country is the country school. It opens up a large world to the boy whose horizon was bounded by corn rows or the woods pasture. Good roads, rural mail routes, easy transit, a flourishing money market and the spread of the simple beauty of the fine arts will keep boys in the country. It is the loneliness, the lack of comforts, the ugliness of the weeds, and the unkempt, slovenly condition of farms and farm houses that makes a boy hate the whole thing and long for pavement and smooth-cut grass and ready money and companionship. The time will come when the farmer's life will be what the poets call it now, but it can come only through those elements that make city life desirable also."
—The Great Round World.

PROFIT IN HORSE BREEDING.

At the meeting of the Texas Live Stock Association awhile ago it was said that there were 3,000,000 less horses in the United States now than in 1890, and yet there were 1,000,000 more in use, the shrinkage being mostly in the herds that then ran wild on the plains. There is a greatly increased use of horses in this country and a demand for large numbers from abroad, and it will take six years to begin to have a supply to equal the demand, even if it does not largely increase within that time. If this is correct, there should be a profit in breeding horses at almost any time for years to come.

THE people of the United States are shocked and horrified at the revelations by prominent jurists of the prevalence of perjury. It is safe to say that laymen have not suspected such a state of affairs and are reluctant to believe it possible. The remedy, however, lies in the hands of the courts. There is law enough to stop it; what is wanted is its execution.

WHEN it is conceived how enormous a proportion of the human race is sufferiug from tuberculosis, it is not wonderful that the advocates of segregation are finding it so hard to advance their wishes. Yet it must come to this sooner or later, now that it is understood that consumption is not hereditary, but is contagious.

MEDICAL EXAMINER

Of the U. S. Treasury Recommends Peruna.

Dr. Llewellyn Jordan.

Dr. Llewellyn Jordan, Medical Examiner of U. S. Treasury Department, graduate of Columbia College, and who served three years at West Point, has the following to say of Peruna:

"Allow me to express my gratitude to you for the benefit derived from your wonderful remedy. One short month has brought forth a vast change and I now consider myself a well man after months of suffering. Fellow sufferers, Peruna will cure you."

Catarrh is a systemic disease curable only by systemic treatment. A remedy that cures catarrh must aim directly at the depressed nerve centers. This is what Peruna does. Peruna immediately invigorates the nerve-centers which give vitality to the mucous membranes. Then catarrh disappears. Then catarrh is permanently cured.

Peruna cures catarrh wherever located. Peruna is not a guess nor an experiment—it is an absolute scientific certainty. Peruna has no substitutes—no rivals. Insist upon having Peruna.

A free book written by Dr. Hartman, on the subject of catarrh in its different phases and stages, will be sent free to any address by The Peruna Medicine Co., Columbus, Ohio.

A REMARKABLE CLOCK.

This New Timepiece Surpasses All Others in Originality.

A clock which is in many respects the most notable in the world has been constructed after five years' hard labor by August Noll, a skilled mechanic, of Villingen, one of the old and picturesque cities in the Schwarzwald region, in Germany. Admirable as regards their mechanism are the world-renowned clocks of Prague, Goelar and Strasseburg, but, in the opinion of all who have seen it, this new clock surpasses them all.

It is about fourteen feet high and twelve feet wide, and the case is fashioned of wood and deftly carved, the front being shaped in the form of a church of the early Renaissance style. The mechanism is arranged to work for an entire century, and during that time the clock will indicate not only the seconds, minutes, quarters, hours, days, weeks, months and years, but also the movable feasts of the church, the advent of which it will herald by a procession of appropriate figures as well as by music, in which trumpets and horns will play the leading part.

At 9 o'clock every morning the doors of the church will be open and a glimpse may be caught of the musical service which is being held within. At one side will appear every hour the figure of Death, as well as figures representing the four ages of man, and at the same time the twelve apostles will be seen at a little distance, marching slowly past Christ, who is represented as blessing each of them in turn. To the right will appear the four seasons in the form of symbolical figures, and beneath them will be seen every morning and evening six Capuchin monks passing slowly into the church to the accompaniment of a solemn chant.

The figures indicating the time of day are not arranged in the customary manner, and are only visible when required, the necessary changes being made by two angels, who announce them by striking harmonious bells. At the foot of the clock is an astronomical tellurium, and on the side wings are spaces on which will be indicated each day the exact time in Calcutta and New York, as compared with the normal time in Europe.

This wonderful clock is valued at 50,000 marks. It is, however, now in Munich, and the people of that city are so delighted with it that it is not likely they will ever allow it to pass into the hands of any stranger.

—Frank Pinston, of Altoona, undertook to walk from Sixth avenue and Twelfth street, that city, to the court house in Hollidaysburg in an hour and a quarter Saturday on a wager. He made the trip in one hour and thirty-one minutes and collapsed on reaching his destination. He soon recovered and was able to return home, and is probably ready to make a fool of himself again when ever he gets a good chance.

UNCLE SAM'S Oklahoma land lottery turned out one prize for every thirteen ticket-holders, but we reckon it did not lessen the kicking of the other twelve.

MOONSHINERS OUTDONE.

Somerset County's Latest Sensation Did Not Originate Among the Hills.

Somerset county has long been notorious as a great centre for the manufacture of moonshine whiskey. But it is certain now that all the rogues of that highly perched county do not live in the mountains; neither do they all distil whiskey in violation of law, but some of them live in big houses right in the centre of the county's capital, and do illigitimate business almost open and above board. But the day of reckoning for one big crooked concern has arrived. Last week the United States authorities seized and closed the factory of the Union Provision company located near the depot in the town of Somerset on the ground that it had been manufacturing oleomargarine contrary to the United States Internal Revenue laws.

Of the affair the Johnstown Tribune says: One report has it that over ten thousand barrels of oleo were seized in various stages of manufacture or in the raw material. Evidently ten thousand pounds is meant, though the output is said to be enormous. J. B. Sechler, an express agent, was placed in charge of the establishment, and the factory will be held at the disposal of the Department of Internal Revenue. The oleo in process of manufacture will be finished. E. M. Love, the head of the Provision company, was placed under arrest at Somerset yesterday by United States Marshal Stone and gave bail before Justice of the Peace J. H. Pisel in the sum of $5,000 for a hearing before United States Commissioner Gamble at Pittsburg on the 13th of this month.

The various newspapers which make note of the incidents in connection with the seizure of the Somerset concern seem to consider it quite a joke that the State Department at Harrisburg has been unable to find the location of any of the oleo plants in the Commonwealth, while all the time there was a large one in operation in a three story brick building in the heart of the town of Somerset. But they really miss the best part of the joke, which is that when Governor Stone was making his appointments Mr. Love who has been arrested at Somerset, was a candidate for the job of pure food commissioner, whose business it is to hunt violators of the oleo law and bring them to justice. For the position he had the endorsement of Abner McKinley, the president's brother, who went to Harrisburg and interviewed the governor, but the place was not secured for him.

EASILY DECIDED.

This Question Should be Answered Easily by Bellefonte People.

Which is wiser, to have confidence in the opinions of your fellow citizens or depend on statements made by utter strangers? Read this:

Mr, Walter Whippo of Water street, leading horse-shoer of Bellefonte, says: "I have a good word to say for Doan's Kidney Pills. I was miserable with backache and a lameness across my loins. I knew it was from my kidneys, for I had suffered from it prior to that. Sometimes I could hardly straighten after bending forward which greatly interfered with my work. I learned about Doan's Kidney Pills procured them at F. Potts Green's drug store and began using them. I had taken other medicine and worn plasters but I never had anything act as promptly as Doan's Kidney Pills. I have been quite free from the whole trouble ever since."

Saw Mill at Salona Burned.

Monday afternoon about 4 o'clock while the men in W. O Knapp's saw mill, at Salona, were working, one of them discovered the building on fire. The alarm was immediately given and all hands formed themselves into a bucket brigade, with the assistance of everyone in town. The origin of the fire is supposed to have been a spark from the smoke stack falling on the roof, and setting on fire the shingles, which were very dry. Fifteen minutes after the building was discovered to be on fire, it was all in one mass of flame, and a short time after it was totally destroyed. Mr. Knapp's loss is $4,000, with no insurance. In the building he had finished lumber amounting to $500. About $800 worth of lumber was saved. The bucket brigade worked hard, and beside saving a portion of the lumber, they saved the cider mill and dwelling which was near. The barn on Miss Becky Herr's property was on fire, but was discovered by a traveling man who was passing and gave the alarm, and the brigade extinguished the blaze. Mr. Knapp states that the mill will not be rebuilt.

Home for Orphans.

Bishop John W. Shanahan, of the Harrisburg diocese, through the generosity of the priests and people under his charge intends erecting a home for orphan children. The necessary funds for the same are now being raised by the Catholic churches in this diocese; each congregation, according to its size, are asked by the bishop to contribute a certain amount towards the building of this much-needed home. As this is a worthy cause, the Catholics are doing all in their power to assist the bishop in the establishment of the orphans' home.

Father McArdle will open a fair here on September 2d, which will continue indefinitely. The proceeds will be donated to this proposed Orphans' Home.

Bark Peeling in Potter County.

The bark peeling season is nearing a close in Potter county, and the amount of timber stripped is considerably short of the demands made by the mills, scarcity of men being the prime and only cause. For the Galeton mill about 15,000 cords have been peeled. The cut for the Lackawanna company's mill at Cross Fork was mostly on Kettle Creek. Messrs. Shults and Spencer finished jobs of about 4,000 cords each. Rexford & Co took a job of about 15 000 cords, fully one half or probably more of which will keep the timber warm all winter. Aside from this the Lackawanna camps up Windfall and Bergstresser runs, picking up "busted" jobs, peeling probably 2,500 cords.

Love, President Judge of the Court of Common Pleas of the 49th Judicial District, consisting of the county of Centre, having issued his precept, bearing date of the 1st day of Aug., 1901, to me directed for holding a Court of Oyer and Terminer and General Jail Delivery and Quarter Sessions of the Peace in Bellefonte, for the County of Centre and to commence on the 4th Monday of August, being the 26th day of Aug., 1901 and to continue one week. Notice is hereby given to the coroner, justice of the peace, aldermen and constables of said County of Centre, that they be then and there in their proper persons, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of the 26th, with their records, inquisitions, examinations, and their own remembrances to do those things which to their office appertains to be done, and those who are bound in recognizances to prosecute against the prisoners that are or shall be in the jail of Centre county be then and there to prosecute against them as shall be just.

Given under my hand, at Bellefonte, the 1st day of August, in the year of our Lord 1901, and the one hundred and twenty-fifth year of the independence of the United States. CYRUS BRUNGART, Sheriff.

WORDS WE SWALLOW

ON THE TIP OF THE TONGUE, YET WE CAN'T GET THEM OUT.

This Hitch In the Working of the Brain Is Called Aphasia In the Medical Profession—A Trick the Chinaman Uses For the Emergency.

Everybody knows what it is to have a word on the tip of the tongue and yet not be able to speak it. The word is known perfectly well, and yet we cannot for the life of us give it utterance. More often than not it is a common word in everyday use. But it will not be spoken when wanted. What is the secret of this "word forgetfulness?"

Doctors call it aphasia. They cannot explain it, but say it is a little hitch in the working of the brain or intellect. The Chinese, who have done so many quaint and clever things, recognized the difficulty thousands of years ago and invented a very ingenious way of making the best of things.

They manufactured a number of words and sentences that meant absolutely nothing, mere sound without sense. When a Chinaman in the course of conversation comes to a word that he has on the tip of his tongue, but cannot speak, he just makes use of the meaningless phrases invented for that purpose until he recalls the word he wants and goes on with the conversation.

The trick, for trick it is, is much in use in public speaking and certainly is an improvement on the "er—er—ers," coughings and throat clearings that so plentifully besprinkle our own after dinner orations. The speaker preserves his dignity and gives himself time for thought.

Very often the greater the desire to speak the missing word the greater the difficulty or sheer impossibility. The man in the Arabian story could not remember the words "Open sesame," although he was in danger of his life. There are many cases on record of soldiers, even officers, forgetting the password and being shot down by their own sentries. At the critical moment the all important word that they thought they knew as well as their own names escapes them. They struggle to recall it, but the very effort makes it more difficult, and they pay with their lives.

A man may sometimes be tortured and yet be unable to speak the word he most desires to utter. Spies have been captured and have gone to their death in silence not because they have not been eager to betray their comrades, but because under the stress and excitement of the situation they have totally forgotten the information they would convey. A celebrated case of this kind was made the subject of a play produced in London some years ago, called "A Question of Memory."

No doubt every reader will be able to recall instances in which he has suffered from this "word forgetfulness." One can often remember the initial letter of the word, but not the word itself. It is still on the tip of the tongue, even after one has given up the struggle to recollect it.

Actors sometimes forget a word or two in their parts that no effort of their own can give back to them at the moment. But the wings reached and the strain removed they are again immediately word perfect and at a loss to explain their forgetfulness. A whole part is sometimes forgotten. This usually happens after a very long run. During the run of "The Second Mrs. Tanqueray" Mrs. Patrick Campbell one night found herself on the stage as innocent of any knowledge of her part as any member of the audience. She made desperate efforts to "find herself," but it was no good. That performance she had to read the part through from beginning to end.

Names of people are the words that slip our memories most frequently. We see a face we know, and yet we cannot fit a name to it. We are shaken by the hand or slapped on the back, and all the while we are hard at work trying to think of the name of the person who is doing it. Kings are credited with royal memories, and it is rare to find a sovereign who has not a wonderful memory for faces. But he usually has some one at his elbow who can jog his memory for names.

It is not always safe to fish for a name wanted. When Ellen Terry and Henry Irving were in America one year, they met a gentleman who, they knew, had reason to expect that they could remember his name. But this they failed to do. So Miss Terry approached him and said: "Sir Henry and I cannot agree as to the exact spelling of your name. Will you please put us right?" "Certainly," was the reply. "It is J-o-n-e-s!"

Aphasia is divided by those who have studied the subject into "word blindness" and "word deafness." A man who is "word blind" may be able to pronounce the name of letters, but cannot understand the meanings of the words they form. A man who is "word deaf" can understand ordinary sounds and music, but cannot understand spoken words. His speech is often mere senseless jargon.

But the passing forgetfulness of a word has little to do with these more serious forms of the complaint. We swallow words under the influence of excitement or more often of fatigue. People getting better from a serious illness are tormented by the loss of common words. This is particularly the case after influenza. One of our leading statesmen after an attack of this malady suddenly lost the thread of his speech in the midst of a public discourse.

"Word forgetfulness" is, however, mainly the result of careless observation or of want of training. What we never knew well we very easily forget. An experienced police detective never forgets a face or name.—Pearson's.

WORK IN A LIGHTHOUSE.

Daily Tasks Performed In Keeping the Lamps Bright.

The duties of the lighthouse keeper are many and important. The top of the tower is usually a tiny room, all glass windows. The lantern is in the center of the room. It is a great prism of glass, in shape like a beehive. The lamp is set into this, and the lenses magnify the comparatively small light of the lamp and make it a great beacon seen far off over the waters. Should the luminant be a flashlight, there is machinery to be wound up every few hours to cause it to revolve. At sunset the keeper climbs the steep steps in the high tower, takes down the curtains that darken it throughout the day and sets the lamp inside the lantern. At midnight the lamp is changed. A freshly filled one is put in the place of the first lighted one.

When storms are raging or fogs prevailing, the keeper stays awake to wind the machinery that keeps the fog signal booming over the water. Many sleepless nights are thus spent by the light keepers in devoted vigil of the aids to navigation. At the gray of dawn the keeper is again climbing the steep iron ladder to the tower top. Before the red rim of the sun appears the lamp is extinguished, the fine prismatic lenses are covered, and the huge panes of glass that form the walls of the room are curtained. The large lamp is carried down the flights of an almost perpendicular ladder and when filled, trimmed and cleaned is ready for the sunset hour. The work of the keeper is not concluded with this feat. The most perplexing portion of the daily routine is now to be performed.

The light keeper must give an account of his stewardship. A record is kept of every gill, pint, quart and gallon of oil that is nightly consumed by the lamps, the fractional parts of inches of wick burned, the lamp chimneys broken and the general consumption of all supplies furnished yearly in large quantities by the government.—Woman's Home Companion.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

Currants are delicious when served with bananas. Slice the latter fruit and add plenty of sugar because of the acidity of the currants.

For cleaning a hairbrush use a weak solution of soda water. When tepid, shake the bristles in it. They will be cleaned without being weakened.

Space in a closet can be much increased by using hangers or wire forms hung on slats put across above the wooden strips that hold the usual hooks.

How do you get the parafin on top of the jelly? Put a piece that you think when melted will cover the jelly in the glass. Pour the hot jelly in. The wax will come to the top.

When you wash handkerchiefs, collars, etc., put them in a pillowslip before they go into the boiler. You spend no time fishing for them, and they don't get lost or thrown out with the suds.

Pineapple juice drained from the fruit and mixed with currant, lemon, blackberry or raspberry juice makes a delicious drink. A few wedges left to float in the lemonade bowl improves the flavor of that beverage.

All on $90 a Year.

A clergyman by the name of Mathson was minister of Patterdale, in Westmoreland, England, 60 years and died at the age of 90. During the early part of his life his benefice brought him only £12 a year. It was afterward increased to £18, which it never exceeded. On this income he married, brought up four children and lived comfortably with his neighbors, educated a son at the university and left behind ihm upward of a thousand pounds.

With that singular simplicity and inattention to forms which characterize a country life, he himself read the burial service over his mother, he married his father to a second wife, and afterward buried him also. He published his own banns of marriage in the church with a woman he had formerly christened, and he himself married all his four children.

Alaska Driftwood.

No trees grow anywhere on the coast of western and northern Alaska, and yet these shores for thousands of miles and the islands of Bering sea are strewn with immense quantities of driftwood, in places piled high on the beach, bearing good testimony to the work of the rivers. This drift is the salvation of the Eskimo, furnishing him with fuel and material for houses, boats and sleds. The entire northeastern half of Bering sea is very shoal, less than 500 feet in depth, while the southwestern half is mostly about 12,000 feet deep.

Pressed Flowers.

Several methods of preserving the natural color of pressed flowers have been suggested, but the best, it is said, is that used in the New York botanical garden. After the specimens have been under pressure for a day or two they are laid in papers heated in the sun, and this is repeated until the drying is completed. This, it is said, preserves the colors perfectly.

NERVE OF ENGINEERS

IT DOES NOT, AS A RULE, DESERT THEM AFTER AN ACCIDENT.

Desperate Chances the Man at the Throttle Will at Times Take Without Being Able to Give a Satisfactory Reason For His Action.

"I have been often asked why railway engineers disregard their instructions and the warning signals along the line of their road," said the general superintendent of a railroad to a man, "and I have summed it up that it is human nature for men to take chances in their business and that engineers are no exception to the general run.

"Sometimes they cannot give a satisfactory reason why they do so. I will give you an authentic instance of this habit which made me live 10 years in 30 minutes.

"On a road I was at the time connected with was a long trestle over a bay several miles in length, with a drawbridge in the center. The draw had been opened, and as a tugboat was passing through the bridge men heard the rumble of a fast, heavily laden passenger train as it struck the bridge a mile away. Knowing that the red danger signals were set with the opening of the draw, they supposed that the engineer would slow up or stop, as might be necessary. Instead, to their consternation, the train came along at regular speed, and a frightful accident appeared inevitable. They yelled to the captain of the tugboat to go at full speed, and as the boat glided through the draw in the darkness they exerted themselves to swing the draw into the locking bolts before the train could get to the point where the rails separated.

"The engineer, however, disregarded the last danger signal, a few hundred yards from the draw, and came on. By a remarkable coincidence of time and position the draw, which was of course in motion, swung so that the rails of the east bound track were in juxtaposition with the west bound track, upon which the train was running, and the heavy engine and one of the passenger coaches, striking the east bound rails, glided upon the draw and stuck there, the remaining portion of the train being on the west bound track, making almost a figure S of the coaches.

"If the draw had moved the thirtieth part of a second faster or slower, the east bound rails would not have been opposite the west bound rails at the very instant that the great engine struck them, and a frightful disaster would have resulted. When I got out on the bridge a few minutes later, I fully expected to find the train in the bottom of the bay and the draw smashed into splinters. I discharged the engineer on the spot and asked him why he had not observed the signals. He admitted that he saw them, but could not give a satisfactory reason for failing to observe them. He evidently took his chances of finding the draw closed when he reached it.

"The engineer of today is a sober, steady, nervy man, especially on the fast express trains on the big roads. It is nerve that makes one man carry a limited express train through the darkness of the night, fog, sleet and blinding snow at 60 miles an hour. The stories we read about of an engineer losing his nerve after an accident are largely fiction. In 27 years of active railroad life I have had but one or two men apply to me for a transfer upon the ground that their nerves had gone back on them for running the fast trains.

"I have had men who have been flung 50 feet over their tenders in a head on collision and had a dozen bones broken come to me after they had been discharged from the hospital and ask to be put back on their old run. You see, they begin firing when they are about 18 or 20, and the cab of an engine is their home. If they run into a person or a wagon load of people on the track, if it is not their fault, they take a practical view of it; they have to. If it is their fault, we discharge them, and they can take any view of it they please then, for we do not wish in our employ careless men. This is true with all of the big roads, and as a result American engineers of today are about as model a set of men in their employment as can be found."—Washington Star.

Things Not Wanted.

Dogs, pianos and typewriters are the possessions most frequently advertised for sale at second hand, according to an advertising man. Cameras run these three hard in the sale of things desirable to get rid of, and bicycles come next.

Bicycles and cameras would probably head the list, so many people seem to wish to be rid of them, but their tenure of advertising popularity is usually brief. Household furniture, horses and carriages come next in the list. Then jewelry, watches, sewing machines and musical instruments.

Books are far down, almost the last in the list. Folks who have them usually seem to wish to keep them.—New York Sun.

The Charge Not Sustained.

"You say," pursued the chairman of the investigating committee, "that he resorted to no bribery whatever during the election so far as you know?"

"Yes, sir," replied the witness; "that's what I said."

"Did he not circulate several boxes of cigars?"

"Yes, sir, but them cigars wasn't bribes. Here's one of them. You try it."—Detroit Free Press.

Saving Requires Character.

The faculty of saving money is much rarer than the faculty of making it, and it calls for the exercise of a higher degree of good judgment and more self restraint. In a word, it requires more character.—World's Work.

SAGE ADVICE OF A FATHER.

Counsel That All Young Men Entering Business Should Heed.

"My son," said the fond but wise parent, "you are leaving me to go out into the world. I have nothing to give you but advice. Never tell a lie. If you wish to put one in circulation, get it published. A lie cannot live, but it takes one a blamed long time to fade out of print.

"Always read your contract. A man might consider he was getting a sinecure if he were offered a position picking blossoms off a century plant; but, you see, he wouldn't have a remunerative occupation if he were paid on piecework.

"Be not overcritical. Even the most ordinary sort of a genius can tell when the other fellow is making a fool of himself.

"Remember that the young man, like the angler's worm, is rather better for being visibly alive.

"Be careful in the choice of your surroundings. Environment will do a great deal for a man. For example, flour and water in a china jug is cream sauce; in a pail on the sidewalk it is billsticker's paste.

"Don't forget that there's a time for everything and that everything should be done in its proper time. Never hunt for bargains in umbrellas on a rainy day.

"You may make enemies. If you know who they are, don't mention them. Silence is golden. It saves the money that might otherwise be spent in defending a libel suit. If you don't know who they are—well, abuse lavished on a concealed enemy is like charity indiscriminately bestowed. It's a good thing wasted."—New York Commercial Advertiser.

BEWILDERED SHOPPERS.

Japanese Peasants Who Are Kept Track of by Labels.

When the Japanese peasants get themselves up for a pilgrimage to a city for the purpose of laying in a stock of finery, they present the quaintest appearance imaginable. The women generally tuck up their petticoats well above their knees, either leaving the legs bare or else swathing them in white bandages which form a kind of leggings. Their hair is done in the usual elaborate Japanese style, and generally an artificial flower is stuck in at the top. It does look comic to see the wizened face of an old woman with a large red nose bobnobbing over it. And this floral decoration is not confined to the women. When you meet a party of pilgrims, you often see the old men also with a flower stuck coquettishly above the ear.

At Nagano it appears that many of the poor old dears from the country get so bewildered by the magnificence of the places they go to and the distractions of shopping that they quite lose their heads and consequently their way. So the ever thoughtful Japanese police have insisted that every party of pilgrims is to have a distinguishing badge. At Nagano it was the commonest thing possible to see some ancient dame rushing about wailing: "Where is my party? Where is the purple iris party?" or "Where is the yellow towel round the neck party?" And then she would be told that "yellow towel round the neck party" was on its way to the station or that the "purple irises" were still saying their prayers in the temple.—Kansas City Star.

Even Ruts Have Their Uses.

Life's monotonies are a blessing, and not in disguise, for they contribute directly to longevity, health and happiness. The long lived man is not the adventurer, the explorer, the plunger, the man who has worries, but he who takes the world as he finds it and slips along through life with as little friction as possible, forms easy going habits, sticks to them and cares not one straw for the opinions of men who say that he is in a rut. He is healthy because he has peace of mind and regularity of life; he is happy because he is healthy and in a good, smooth, comfortable rut, which he prefers to the macadam on the sides of the road. Goldsmith's pastor, who had spiritual charge of the deserted village, who ne'er had changed nor wished to change his place, is an excellent example of the man who makes the most possible out of the monotonies of life.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Peasant Costumes In Ireland.

A certain number of peasants in the wilder and remoter districts of Ireland still wear something like a national costume. About Lough Mask plenty of the lasses are to be seen in picturesque red petticoats that artists loved to bring into their sketches of Irish life. A sprinkling of the old high hats may be seen. The older fishermen wear them, but the younger school shun such antiquated headgear, as the English peasant of today does the smock frock.—London Express.

Water.

The ocean is a huge spring, containing not only salt, but many other minerals, in solution. The Dead sea is charged with such elements almost to saturation. Only distilled water is pure. By distillation sea water itself is rendered drinkable, though not pleasant.

And life is long when love is gone,"
But life was done ere set of sun;

HE MEANT WELL.

An Obliging Man Who Made an Embarrassing Mistake.

A young editor took an apartment on South Twelfth street. The landlady said frankly to him: "I will tell you, sir, that my husband is a worthless fellow. I have to support him, and he sometimes comes home very late, drunk. There is no other objection to my house." The editor said this was no matter and thought no more of it until a few nights later, when a great uproar in the street awoke him. He looked out of the window and saw a man lying on the doorstep shouting ribald things. "The husband," thought the editor. "I'll go down and let him in."

He ran forth in his pyjamas, grabbed the husband by the neck and, jerking him into the hallway, proceeded to drag him up stairs. But the man made strong objections to this treatment. He howled oaths and abuse, kicked, struggled, even pulled out a handful of the young editor's hair, but this was in vain, for the youth is strong and of a determined mind, and he was bound that he would do his landlady a good turn.

He had got perhaps three parts of the way up stairs with his burden when two heads were poked in the dim light over the balustrade, and the landlady's voice said, "Why, Mr. Blank, what are you doing?"

The editor panted as he took a fresh hold and at the same time ducked a sharp uppercut: "I'm bringing your husband up, ma'am. He's drunk again, I'm sorry to say."

From the other head on the landing these words then issued in a deep bass voice: "What do you mean, young feller, by 'drunk again?' I'm this lady's husband. That man doesn't belong here."

Instantly realizing his mistake, the editor dumped his charge out into the street again. Then he returned and apologized lamely to the rightful husband for his strange words.—Philadelphia Record.

How "The Autocrat" Popped.

It was on the Common that we were walking. The mall, or boulevard, of our Common, you know, has various branches leading from it in different directions. One of these runs down from opposite Joy street southward across the whole length of the Common to Boylston street. We called it the long path and were fond of it.

I felt very weak indeed, though of a tolerably robust habit, as we came opposite the head of this path on that morning. I think I tried to speak twice without making myself distinctly audible.

At last I got out the question, "Will you take the long path with me?" "Certainly," said the schoolmistress; "with much pleasure." "Think," I said, "before you answer. If you take the long path with me now, I shall interpret it that we are to part no more." The schoolmistress stepped back, with a sudden movement, as if an arrow had struck her.

One of the granite blocks used as seats was hard by—the one you may still see close by the gingko tree. "Pray, sit down," I said. "No, no," she answered softly. "I will walk the long path with you."

The old gentleman who sits opposite met us walking arm in arm about the middle of the long path and said very charmingly, "Good morning, my dears."—Oliver Wendell Holmes.

HAVE TO GIVE UP.

ITS ALL OVER WHEN NERVOUS SICK HEADACHE COMES TO YOUNG OR OLD—EVERYTHING STOPS AND NOTHING GOES ON BUT THE NERVOUS SICK HEADACHES.

If anything will engender a disregard for even life itself it is continued or oft repeated attacks of nervous sick headache. You may be able to partially describe it but the English language fails to fully do it justice. Its misery so concentrated, so condensed, so prostrating that all else is enveloped in its meshes.

Mrs. John H. Beck, of No. 115 3rd St., North, Philipsburg, Pa., says: "Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills are just fine. I used to suffer all the time with nervous sick headaches, terrible headaches that weakens one and makes one nervous and trembly. I was told of the Nerve Pills and got a box and the result was remarkable. The medicine stopped the headaches completely. A single box did this for me and I am only too glad to say so."

By calling at Krumrine's drug store information can be obtained regarding this great success of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills and how they were first introduced by proof of their merit.

CUPID IN PRINTER'S INK.

Finds His Lady-Love at Centre Hall Through a Press Article.

A full page article in the Philadelphia "Sunday Press" was the instrument in bringing together Mr. U. D. Hench and Miss Ida Rhoads, after a long separation. The article was printed in one of last winter's editions and along with other pictures had the picture of Miss Rhoads. Mr. Hench is in business in Philadelphia. Miss Rhoads is the daughter of the well known Rev. W. W. Rhoads, a former pastor of the Evangelical church at Centre Hall.

The incident has a touch of the romantic, as the two had been schoolmates and very good friends while younger and had for some unknown reason drifted apart. As soon as Mr. Hench learned Miss Rhoads' address he wrote to her, and in a few days received a reply. The correspondence was continued and the outcome was that Miss Rhoads named Centre Hall as their first meeting place.

Accordingly, Miss Rhoads came to Centre Hall last week to visit friends and on Saturday Mr. Hench came up from Philadelphia to spend Sunday with the lady whom he had at last found. Mr. Hench seemed to enjoy his novel situation very much as he talked in a pleasant way about it. He left on Monday afternoon well pleased with his first visit to Centre Hall.—Centre Hall Reporter.

Dragged by a Hay Rake.

Mrs. Hanford, a farmer's wife, near Williamsport, was in the field Wednesday, assisting in hay making. Her husband was driving two oxen in the hay rake. The animals stepped into a yellow jackets' nest. The bees attacked the oxen, causing them to run away. Mrs. Hanford ran to stop them, but was knocked down. The hay rake caught her and dragged her fully 100 yards over the ground before the oxen could be stopped. Her injuries are such that it is feared she will die; if she does recover her back will be permanently injured

Child Badly Burned.

Wednesday afternoon, 5 year old Harry Fulmer of South Williamsport was playing with matches in the street. His clothes were ignited and the flames flew upward. His cries attracted Mrs. Snyder, who tore his clothes off. The child is badly burned about the head and shoulders. His recovery is doubtful. Mrs. Snyder's hands were badly burned.

A STORMY AUGUST.

Hicks Says We Can Look for Awful Things This Month.

Rev. Hicks predicts rather stormy weather for the month of August. Hear him:

"Threatening weather is scheduled for the opening of the month, and a season of menacing storm conditions is due about the 6th to the 9th. Warm weather will prevail together with heavy thunder storms, hail and high winds. A decided falling temperature is predicted as a sequence for the 13th and 14th. The reverse will be true from the 17th to the 21st, although startling downpours of rain are probable in narrow localities. Along about this time the advance guards of the September equinox, will make their presence felt. Intense local storms will be the result of very high temperature. Vicious thunder and lightning may be expected.

"Another period of severe storms is from the 24th to the 26th, inclusive. The closing days of August may be marked by storms having their origin in the West Indies. Counter storms from the polar regions would make a terrible and awe-inspiring demonstration of the forces of nature at this time."

Again In The Toils.

James Reed, of this place, was arrested Wednesday at Hecla Park, charged with having stolen two watches, the property of Mr. Al. Mann, of Mill Hall, who is camping with his family at the Park. The watches were taken from Mr. Mann's camp quarters and when the discovery of the loss was made suspicion pointed to Reed who was immediately apprehended. When accused of the crime he stoutly denied his guilt but as the stolen property was found on his person his protestations of innocence were of no avail. Reed was brought to Bellefonte and placed in jail where he awaits a hearing. Reed less than a year ago was released from the Huntingdon Reformatory.

To Save Her Child.

From frightful disfigurement Mrs. Nannie Galleger, of La Grange, Ga., applied Bucklen's Arnica Salve to great sores on her head and face, and writes its quick cure exceeded all her hopes, It works wonders in Sores, Bruises, Skin Eruptions, Cuts, Burns, Scalds and Piles. 25c. No Second Week of Court.

In answer to a petition signed by all the lawyers at the bar, Judge Love has ruled that the second week of the August term of court will be dispensed with.

Jurors and others summoned to appear at the second week will not need to do so. This means for the week beginning September 2, or more commonly known as the civil week.

WORK OF MASKED MEN

They Held Up a B. & O. Passenger Train in Indiana.

DIDN'T MAKE A VERY BIG HAUL

Made a Mistake and Failed to Locate the Express Car—Trainmen Were Shot at and Had Some Very Narrow Escapes.

A LARGE POSSE IS AFTER THEM

CHICAGO, Aug. 1.—The Baltimore and Ohio passenger train from the east which was due to arrive in the Grand Central depot, Chicago, at 9 o'clock last night, was held up by five masked men at 8 o'clock between Edgemore and Grand Calumet Heights, Indiana, 31 miles out from Chicago.

One of the mail cars which contained no money was dynamited and wrecked. the attempt at robbery was made after the two mail cars had been detached from the train and run a quarter of a mile ahead. The failure of the robbers to make a rich haul was due to the fact that the express car, which contained the train's treasure, was in an unusual place. It was the third car in the train. After wrecking the mail car and obtaining no booty, the robbers disappeared in the darkness without attempting to rectify their mistake.

The only loot that they carried away with them as a result of their adventure was the gold watch of the engineer. Most of the trainmen were shot at and had narrow escapes from the bullets. No person was injured either by the dynamite or firearms.

The train was running at a high rate of speed as it passed Calumet Heights, and immediately after passing out of sight of the station Engineer J. W. Collins saw directly in front of his engine a large fire on which some rails had been placed. He slowed down, and as he did so three men, wearing masks over their faces, jumped into the cab and covered Collins and his fireman, James Whipple, with revolvers.

Just before climbing into the cab the three men commenced to fire with their revolvers in order to frighten away all assistance. The shots produced the liveliest kind of a panic in the sleeping cars. No attempt was made, however, to rob any of the passengers. The fusilade had the effect of making them keep inside the cars.

After mounting the cab of the engine the robbers, covering the engineer and fireman with their revolvers, made them step down and go back the length of two cars. They ordered the men to uncouple the first two cars, which was done. They then hustled the two trainmen back into the cab, and, still keeping the engineer covered with revolvers, directed him to pull up some distance from the rest of the train.

Collins ran up 200 feet and was then directed to stop. He did so, and while one of the men remained to guard him the others jumped off, and hurling dynamite at the door of the car which they judged to be the express car, burst open the door. Hastily climbing in to get at the safe, they were astonished to find that they had broken into a mail car. They threatened the engineer with death for not telling them that the cars which he had uncoupled were not express cars, and ordered him to return at once and uncouple the next car behind the baggage cars. Climbing once more into his cab, Collins backed his engine down, coupled onto the third car, which the fireman was made to uncouple at the rear end, and still with the muzzle of the revolver at his head, Collins was ordered to run down the track as before.

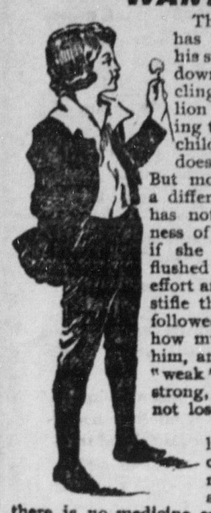
He drew away from the balance of the train about the same distance as on the first occasion and the robbers still leaving him under the charge of one of their number, made for this car. When they reached it they found to their great wrath that they had attacked another mail car and that it contained no money. The train had been delayed now fully thirty minutes and fearing that if they delayed any longer help would be coming to the train crew, the robbers gave up their attempt to rob the train and jumping down ran into a thicket of scrub oaks at the side of the track and disappeared.

The train was hastily made up and came on to Chicago arriving here somewhat late, a stop having been made at Whiting to report the robbery. Officers were at once sent after the robbers and within an hour after the robbery a large posse was on their trail.

May it Come to Pass.

"Link" Miller, a well known colored gent of this place, who has been living in Butler, Pa., for the past two months, is reported to be in the Butler county jail awaiting trial for some offense against the laws of the land. As he is said to have been committed under a $1,500 bail bond it may be assumed that his alleged crime was of a serious nature and if found guilty it is likely to be some years before he bobs up in Bellefonte again, for which we, in common with the community at large, will be profoundly thankful.

"DOES MOTHER WANT ME?"



The little fellow has blown with all his strength, and the downy tufts still cling to the dandelion stem. According to the oracle of childhood mother does not want him. But mother would tell a different story. She has noticed the weakness of the lungs, and if she saw him now, flushed with his unusual effort and struggling to stifle the cough which followed it, she'd feel how much she wanted him, and wanted those "weak" lungs made strong, that she might not lose him.

For "weak" lungs, obstinate cough, hemorrhage, weakness and emaciation there is no medicine so healing and so strengthening as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It is especially valuable for children, building up weak bodies with sound, healthy flesh. It is entirely free from alcohol and narcotics.

"Winter before this, my oldest boy (who is now nearly five years old), had a terrible cough; he had it the whole winter and all summer," writes J. M. Farr, Esq., of Cameron, Screven Co., Ga. "Physicians did him no good and nothing my wife and I could do did him any good. After your 'Discovery' had cured my cough so quickly, when everything else failed, I wrote my wife to bring him back from the country, she having carried him there to see if the change would do him good. We were living in Savannah, Ga., at the time. She brought him back and after giving him your great 'Golden Medical Discovery' for a time, he entirely recovered."

Consolidation of Express Companies.

It is expected before long two or three of the Express companies will be consolidated and another great trust formed.

Since the Pennsylvania railroad obtained control of the Baltimore and Ohio it has been rumored that the Adams express service would be extended to the latter line to take the place of the United States express, which has been operating over that system ever since the Baltimore and Ohio Express was abandoned. It is said now, however, that the United States express contract with the Baltimore and Ohio is binding and that it cannot be abrogated.

The United States company will continue to handle the business of the road until the Express Trust is formed. The Ohio River has the Adams express service and cannot give its business to the United States Express company under present arrangements owing to existing contracts of long standing.

An Old Land Mark.

Messrs. Mose Montgomery and John Bullock have made a great improvement to their residence on Allegheny street by plastering and painting the front of the building. This is one of the oldest buildings in the borough and was built in the early days of the town. It is said that away back in the 30's James Armor, father of Monroe Armor, had a cabinet shop on the second floor of this building and in the rear was the public school taught by Col. George A. Bayard's father. Among the pupils were Colonel Bayard and Henry Harris.

Astounded The Editor.

Editor S. A. Brown, of Bennettsville, S. C., was once immensely surprised. "Through long suffering from Dyspepsia," he writes, "my wife was greatly run down. She had no strength or vigor and suffered great distress from her stomach, but she tried Electric Bitters which helped her at once, and, after using four bottles, she is entirely well, can eat anything. It's a grand tonic, and its gentle laxative qualities are splendid for torpid liver." For Indigestion, Loss of Appetite, Stomach and Liver Troubles it's a positive, guaranteed cure. Only 50c at F. Potts Green's drug store.

Tyrone's First Railway.

The first spike in the construction of the street railway system in Tyrone was driven Wednesday evening, to an accompaniment of speech making, music and fireworks. The road will be constructed to Bellwood, seven miles, and there connect with the Logan Valley line, which enters Altoona. It will be leased to the American Railways company, of Philadelphia, owners of the local trolley lines.

May Change Color System.

General Manager J. B. Hutchison, of the Pennsylvania Railroad company, has under consideration the question of changing the color system of signal lights by abolishing white and making green the safety light. In place of green for a cautionary signal it is proposed to use yellow. This change has already been made on several roads, among the number being the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad.

DEMOCRATIC SUCCESS.

How It Can Be Obtained in the State of Maryland.

NEGRO MUST BE DISFRANCHISED

So Says the Platform Adopted by the State Convention Held at Baltimore—The Issue Made a Square One.

INTELLIGENT WHITES SHOULD RULE

BALTIMORE, August 2.—The democratic state convention, which met here yesterday, declared that the purpose of the party, if successful in the coming election, is to eliminate the negro from politics in Maryland, if such a thing be possible under the constitution of the state. Upon this, the paramount issue of the campaign, will stand the candidates nominated yesterday for state offices and those chosen in the various county and district conventions as candidates for places in the legislature of 1902, which body will elect a United States senator to succeed George L. Wellington. That his successor, in the event of democratic victory, will be Arthur Pue Gorman is settled beyond question, although no formal announcement of his candidacy has as yet been made.

The nominal purpose for which the convention met was to select candidates for the offices of controller and clerk of the court of appeals and it fulfilled this task by unanimously naming Dr. Joshua W. Hering, of Carroll, and J. Frank Turner, of Talbot, to succeed themselves in the places mentioned. This action, however, was a forgone conclusion and the real business of the convention was the formulation and adoption of a platform upon which the democrats could go before the people of the state with a reasonable show of winning. The combined sagacity of all the democratic leaders in the state was called into requisition for this purpose and under the advice and guidance of Mr. Gorman the following declaration upon the chief point in issue was evolved:

"The democratic party represents more than 40,000 majority of the white people of Maryland. They, in common with their brethren of other states into which large masses of colored voters have been injected into the body politic, recognize that the peace, good order, personal safety and proper development of our material interests depend upon the control of the commonwealth by its intelligent white residents. Without the aid of the 60,000 colored voters, the republican party in Maryland would be a hopeless minority.

"We, therefore, without hesitation, proclaim that the success of the democratic party will mean that, while we shall deal with perfect fairness in securing all the benefits of good government and full and free opportunities for education to all classes, such action must be taken as to prevent the control of the state government from passing into the hands of those who have neither the ability nor the interest to manage public affairs wisely and well."

The other planks in the platform reaffirm the devotion of the local party to the principles enunciated by Thomas Jefferson; assert that democratic control is necessary to the welfare of the state, commend the administration of John Walter Smith as governor; pledge the party to amend the oyster and school laws in such manner as may seem proper; declare the course of the governor in calling a special session of the legislature and the action of that body in passing laws to limit the exercise of the right of franchise to those who are able to read and write to be patriotic in the extreme; denounce the federal authorities for frauds and irregularities in the late federal census, commend the state authorities for the manner in which a re-count of the people was made, and pledge the party to the adoption of such laws as will make the primary elections as fair as those held under the general elections law.

Their Secret Is Out.

All Sadieville, Ky., was curious to learn the cause of the vast improvement in the health of Mrs. S. P. Whittaker, who had for a long time, endured untold suffering from a chronic bronchial trouble. "It's all due to Dr. King's New Discovery," writes her husband. It completely cured her and also cured our little grand-daughter of a severe attack of Whooping Cough. It positively cures Coughs, Colds, La Grippe, Bronchitis, all Throat and Lung troubles. Guaranteed bottles 50c and $1.00 Trial bottles free at F. Potts Green's drug store.

The Katydids are Here.

The katydids have made their appearance and the weatherwise say that this means frost in six weeks from the time they are first heard. If such be the case the corn, potatoes and buckwheat crops will suffer. The katydids have put in an appearance earlier than usual this year.

Matrimonial Complications.

Philip Bradley of Brooklyn is trying to figure out who he is and what relation he is to himself and the other members of his family. But he has only himself to blame, because he insisted upon marrying pretty Henrietta Rothwell. The mix up is caused by Miss Rothwell being the sister of Bradley's father's second wife. In addition to this fact, the young woman is his first cousin, and on that account a special dispensation had to be secured to permit the ceremony. Michae Bradley, his father, married, as his second wife, the daughter of his first wife's sister. So far as Bradley is able to figure out he will be brother-in-law to his father and stepmother; nephew to his father; husband of his aunt by marriage, uncle by marriage of his own brothers and sisters and his own uncle. His wife is daughter-in-law of his father, when she was already his niece, while her sister is now her stepmother-in-law. There may be other complications, but the man who started to figure them out has been driven to drink and threw up the job.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer one hundred dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address

Centre and Clearfield Railway.

At a meeting held Tuesday in Philadelphia of the stockholders and directors of the Centre and Clearfield Street Railway company the capital stock of the company was fixed at $500,000, divided into 10,000 shares of the par value of $50 each. An issue of $500,000 of 5 per cent. 30 year bonds was also authorized. The surveys for that portion of the line between Osceola and Winburn will be completed by Saturday. Bids for the construction work between those points have been invited and contracts will be awarded next week.

PROMPT WORK BY POLICE.

Justice Overtakes the Thief Who Robbed Irvin's Book Store.

A very clever piece of detective work was done by the police authorities of this town Tuesday in the detection and arrest of Harry Miller (colored), son of Frank Miller.

It was reported to the Burgess' office early Tuesday morning that the Irvin's Stationery Store had been broken into and robbed of $25.00.

The police at once went to work on the case and discovered that Harry Miller had been seen on the street late Monday evening.

It was also reported that he was seen to be wearing a new suit and a new pair of patent leather shoes.

These clues were followed up and discovery made that he had bought the shoes at Yeager & Davis' and the suit at Montgomery's in both cases making payment in small coin and two dollar bills such as were in the Irvin cash drawer.

He then bought a ticket for Williamsport. The authorities here kept in touch with the Williamsport chief of police but were unable to find the boy. The stations were carefully watched there. When the 4:44, train arrived Policeman Harry Miller recognized the boy as he was getting off the train and immediately made the arrest.

At the hearing before the Burgess the boy was found to have $3 of small coin on his person and finally admitted to have committed the crime.

Information has been made by Mr. Irvin and the boy lodged in jail.

The work of Policemen Mullen and Miller in the management of the case is very commendable.

REBERSBURG NEWS.

The oats is nearly all harvested, it being a very poor crop through this section.

Rev. Solly, of Richmond, Va., preached a very fine sermon in the Reformed church on Sunday evening. He held his audience spellbound all through his discourse. He certainly is the making of a fine pulpit orator.

Mrs. Harry Jenkins has returned to her home at Bellefonte, after a four weeks' visit at the home of J. N. Meyers.

Prof. H. W. Morris has again accepted the High school, after raising his salary to $60 per month. This shows that the board certainly tries to hold a good thing when they once have it.

Among the many visitors to our town during the last week were Mrs. Custoborder, of Illinois; Mrs. Rebecca Shafer, of Mifflinburg, and her daughter from Chicago; Mrs. Henrietta Spangler, of Kansas; Rev. and Mrs. Solly, of Richmond, Va., and Mr. and Mrs. Solly, of Philadelphia, Pa.

Mrs. Reuben Gramley had a severe attack of stomach cramp on Sunday night, but is better at this writing.

The water managers request every citizen of the town to be present at their meeting this (Thursday) evening, as there will be some important business come before the people of this town.

Three Jolly Camping Parties.

Three jolly camping parties left Bellefonte Wednesday for a week's outing in different parts of the county. One crowd goes to Hunter's Run and is made up as follows: Thos. Jennings, Thos. Shaughensey, Jr., George Knisely, Will Rider, Clay Rider and Wm. Beezer. Another party is encamped at Dowdy's Hole, near Curtin's Works. They are Harry Smith, Frank Dawson, Harold Kirk and Clarence Rine. The third party, composed of Calvin Ray, George Miller, Willie and Fred Rees are enjoying themselves at a point just below Howard.

Marriage Licenses.

The following marriage licenses were issued during the past week by Register A. G. Archey:

William H. Allen and Mabel C. Wian, both of Bellefonte.

H. L. Sayers, of Clarence, and Katie Croft, of Yarnell, Pa.

J. D. Hunter and Agnes B Rerick, both of Bellefonte.

—Beech Creek is now the focus for Tyrone sportsmen, Rhide being ruled out as only about a fourth-class sporting point for bass fishermen. Today at 12:15 o'clock a party of gentlemen took the Bald Eagle Valley train for their new camp, and will probably remain a week. The party consisted of J. K. Cass, A. R. Grier, G. L. Owens, A. M, Wooden, Chas. Cass, Carl F. Adam, of Los Angeles, California, and Thomas F. Seixas, of Philadelphia. They will be joined later by Judge Bell, of Hollidaysburg, and Judge Love, of Bellefonte. It is not necessary to say they will have a jolly good time, for that is what they will have no matter what any one may say.—Monday's Tyrone Herald.

MARRIED—At the Lutheran parsonage on East Linn street at 12 o'clock Wednesday. Mr. Frank Beck and Miss Hannah Lucas, both of Axe Mann. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. H. C. Holloway.

—Rev. C. W. Heisler, president of Susquehanna university, Selinsgrove, has tendered his resignatian. He has accepted a call to become pastor of a Lutheran congregation at Albany, N. Y.

A Former Centre Countian's Death.

Lot Eckley, a native of Centre county, but late of Centralia, Mo., died at the home of his son, Joseph Eckley, at that place on July 25, 1901, in the 91st year of his age. Death was due to a general breaking down incident to old age. His remains were interred the following Saturday at Oak Chapel. Rev. William Fish conducted the services.

The deceased was born in Pennsylvania in 1810. In early manhood he went to Kentucky, where he lived for 30 years. 1871 he moved to Callaway county. He leaves six living children, Mrs. Martha Smith, Joseph, W. H., and John Eckley, Mrs. J. A. Stewart and Mrs. Allen.

Mr. Eckley was a consistent member of the Methodist church for many years and was one of the oldest and most reputable citizens of Centralia, Mo.

Young Lady's Awful Scare.

One day last week a daughter of John Bible, of Centre Hall, was in the act of passing over the cistern a plank of the covering tilted and let the young lady down into the water. She struck the water back first and was submerged, but getting on her feet she found herself standing waist-deep in water. After clearing her throat of the water forced through her mouth, her cries were heard and she was assisted from her predicament, none the worse for the cold bath, except an awful scare.

—While a party of berry pickers were driving up the mountain near Cedar Run, Lycoming county, the tongue was pulled from the wagon and the vehicle started down the mountain at frightful speed. A number of the occupants jumped, but Mrs. Albert Tome, Mrs. Makin and the latter's two children were carried with the wagon over a fifty-foot embankment. Mrs. Tome was seriously injured, but the others escaped with slight bruises.
